Truman, Top Aides In Secret Talk

Atomic Meeting Hinted

White House Keeps Silence

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A White House shield of secrecy today threw a tight cover over a super-mysterious conference which brought President Truman together with top military, atomic, diplomatic and congressional leaders.

For two hours and 33 minutes these men—the list was impressive—were together behind closed doors last night in historic Blair house, the President's temporary home.

There was no announcement whatever of what went on. However, the identity of the participants pointed strongly toward some development in the atomic weapons field on an international level.

The 16 men who were closeted with Mr. Truman were singularly close-mouthed as they left. What little they did reply to reporters' questions could be summed up:

"If anything is going to be said, the President will say it."

TRUMAN KEEPS SILENT

Mr. Truman wasn't talking. There was no sign that he would later.

The conference, staged against the dual backdrops of (A) the sharp Senate debate on the Atlantic pact and arms-for-Europe and (B) a congressional hearing into charges of mismanagement of the atomic energy program, threw open the doors to wide areas of speculation.

Here's the list of those at the conference with the President:

Vice President Barkley, Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been presiding as chairman of the joint military chiefs of staff; House Speaker Rayburn of Texas; Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Senate Armed Services committee; Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy committee.

Also Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), Republican foreign policy spokesman and member of both the foreign relations and joint atomic committees; Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), a member of both groups and author of the "Incredible Mismanagement" charges against the Atomic Energy commission; Rep. Durham (D-NC), vice chairman of the joint committee, and Rep. Cole (R-NY) ranking GOP House member on the committee.

Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the AEC; Joseph Volpe jr., AEC General Counsel, and two unidentified men.

Keeps Word, Quits Tower

LIMA —(AP)— Raymond Jutila, the demented slayer, was tired and sunburned after his 29 hours atop the state hospital's 130-foot watertower.

He also was happy—and remorseful.

"Doc, I'm awful sorry for all the trouble I've caused you," he told Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent.

The 35-year-old insane killer came down yesterday from his perch on top of the watertower at Lima state hospital for the criminal insane. He was happy after being assured "released convicts" would not harm his family.

The Warren man had scampered up the tower Wednesday morning. He refused to come down until protection against "some released convicts" was furnished his family.

To assure the "protection," Jutila demanded that police Cheif William Johnson of Warren, send him a telegram. The message, he insisted, had to be delivered, by a uniformed Western Union messenger.

When the telegram was delivered, Jutila kept his word. He climbed down the ladder.

4 Detectives 'Captured' At Road Block

MOUNT VERNON —(AP)—An alert citizen provided a tip yesterday that resulted in the "capture" of four armed men—all Cleveland detectives.

It happened because of the heat. The citizen saw the detectives who had stopped along State Route 3 near Sunbury to remove their coats. He saw their service revolvers and phoned police.

The state highway patrol, the sheriff's office and local police set up a roadblock. It worked.

But it turned into a meeting of a group of law enforcement officers when the detectives established their identity.

Epidemic Now Under Control

Push Clean-Up Of Suburb

The outbreak of gastro-intestinal disorders among residents in the Country Club Allotment No. 3 is apparently under control, but the area could be a source of a major epidemic, a state health department official said today.

Local health department workers are busy carrying out a program designed to eliminate the trouble for the time being.

All water supplies that have not been tested by health department are posted and not being used. When a well tests safe, it is opened for use. If not, the well is closed.

An intensive clean - up campaign is under way at the allotment and a township truck will assist hauling away rubbish.

Following the clean up campaign the local health department will spray the area with DDT, Miss Martha McFarland, local health nurse said.

TEMPORARY REMEDY

The health department's work at the area was termed a "temporary answer" by Dr. Charles P. Freeble, head of the state health department's communicable disease department. Two deaths and 53 cases of diarrheal disease were reported in the area.

"As long as the area exists without proper sanitary facilities it will be a problem, he said, and the next outbreak might be more serious."

"Although the area is outside the city limits, it is a community problem," Dr. Freeble said. "The bugs don't respect city limit lines."

However, Country Club Allotment No. 3 is only one of a fringe of suburban areas around Mansfield that have no public sewage disposal or water supply facilities.

A recent health department survey indicated 10,000 persons live on the fringe of the city limits with no public water or sewer system.

Youth Arrested In Murder Case

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. —(UP) — State police today held Donald L. Horn, 21, in an undisclosed jail for questioning about the brutal murder of Muriel Baldridge.

Police returned Horn from El Paso, Texas, Thursday after he had surrendered to police there.

'Talgo' Takes Time Out

Spanish Train Traverses Area

A few Mansfielders who happened to be at the Pennsylvania railroad station last night saw an unusual looking train pull into the station about 7 p. m.

"Talgo," an undersized diesel-powered train built by the American Car and Foundry company, Berwick, Pa., for the Spanish National railroad, stopped briefly in Mansfield on its way from Pennsylvania to Chicago where it will be exhibited at the World Railway fair. The fair opened June 25 and will continue until Oct. 2.

Residents of Lucas got a look at the train when a broken wheel caused a delay there, according to the agent of the Pennsylvania railroad here.

Crestliners also got a chance to inspect the novel vehicle when the damaged coach was removed and taken to the Crestline shop yard for repair of the broken wheel. Since the type of wheel needed was not available the damaged coach will be shipped to Chicago by flatcar.

Those who saw the six-coach train described it as much smaller than the average train used in this country. The low aluminum coaches were only 28 feet long, about half as long as an American railway coach.

Entrance to the coaches is gained by a side center door level with platform, eliminating the use of steps which must be used to board American trains.

The train had only one set of wheels to each coach instead of the two sets used on American trains. One observer said this single set of wheels gave the Spanish train the appearance of an American roller coaster. The coach wheels are centered with rubber, presenting a problem when the train travels over American tracks since the wheels do not set off the signals along the track.

Despite its small size, the train is completely modern with comfortable reclining seats, a modern kitchenette, and an observation car at the rear.

Although the train is made up of six coaches plus the diesel engine, when it is hooked up, it is like one large coach. The separate coaches fit tightly against one another with no space between. When the coach was removed to be repaired, canvass had to be hung over the open spaces at the ends of the two cars which were on either end of it.

THE SPANISH LOOK—Residents of Mansfield, Lucas, and Crestline got a look at this small diesel-powered Spanish train, "Talgo," last night as it moved westward on the Pennsylvania railroad from Berwick, Pa., to Chicago. It will be exhibited at the World Railway fair in Chicago, which opened June 25 and will continue until Oct. 2.

Czechs Seek Church Curb

Harsh Measure Being Prepared

PRAGUE — (INS) — The Czech communist government announced today that a bill imposing state control over all churches has been prepared for the national assembly.

The measure will give the Czech government control of all churches, their appointments and finances. It is the most sweeping measure yet envisaged in the Soviet satellite state's attempts to gain the upper hand in its struggle with organized religion.

The announcement followed a high Czech official's denunciation of the Vatican's excommunication of Catholic communists as the work of "papal defenders of fascist barbarity."

The bill requires that all church appointments, including those of bishops and archbishops, must be approved by the state. It gives the government the right to veto such appointments if it disapproves them.

It provides for the state to pay the salaries of priests and church expenses, and says that priests will be placed on the state payroll only if they have not been convicted of an offense in a civil court and have been proved "nationally reliable."

Charge UEW Guilty Of Illegal Action

WARREN — INS) — Contempt of court proceedings were on file today in Trumbull county Common Pleas Court in Warren against Local 750 of CIO-United Electrical Workers for allegedly disobeying a court restraining order against illegal picketing." The Taylor-Winfield corporation charged the union "continued to interfere with the free passage of salaried workers to and from the plant."

Lions Club Gives Helping Hand

$550 Gift Will Train Vet's Seeing-Eye Dog

If ever his faith was shaken, Paul Matthes, 25-year-old Mansfield blind war veteran, has it restored today.

Members of the Mansfield Lions club told the plucky youth yesterday his three-year-old German Shepherd dog, "Ranger" will be trained as a seeing-eye companion. The Lions club will foot the bill. The $550 gift to the former infantryman, wounded by a mortar shell during the European invasion, was almost like a gift of returned sight.

"I'm awfully happy about it," Matthes said with a big grin. "It certainly means a lot to me."

The story of Matthes' struggle to raise enough money to train his dog was carried in the News-Journal two weeks ago. Lions club members decided at their Wednesday night meeting this week to sponsor the dog's training.

"He's pretty well trained now," the veteran added. "But "I'll have to take some training with 'Ranger' so we can work together."

Matthes plans to take the training in Cleveland with "Ranger" soon.

Officials and fellow workmen at Barnes Manufacturing company where the veteran works are almost as happy about the turn of events as Matthes.

Matthes resides at 918 Maumee avenue.

Attorneys Fired Upon

ATLANTA — (INS) — Two Atlanta attorneys who filed a suit against Ku Klux Klan Grand Dragon Samuel Green reported today they were shot at last night and a cross burned in front of the house where they were staying.

The attorneys, Hal A. Irwin and Samuel D. Johnson, filed a suit yesterday on behalf of a war veteran who asked court potection against Klan threats of torture.

Irwin said a cross was set aflame last night and about the same time four or five bullets smashed through a window of the house. No one was injured.

Suburban Decatur police said that they found four bullets embedded in the woodwork of the house.

A small cross, about two feet long, was found still smoldering before the house.

The suit was filed on behalf of Hugh Gilliland of Atlanta and was specifically directed at the Klan Grand dragon.

The petition asked protection from "a threat of torture and beating at the hands of the. . . scum of the Ku Klux Klan."

OK MORE LOCAL AID

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Senate today completed passage of a bill to give cities and other local governments more state aid.

Axe-Slayer Hanged For Brutal Crime

WALLA WALLA, Wash — INS) — Burly Jake Bird who claimed 30 axe slayings and ate four "last meals," died on the gallows of Washington's Walla Walla state prison early today.

The gallows trap was sprung at 12:06 a. m. PST) and the 48-year-old man was pronounced dead at 12:20 by Dr. Elmer Hill, Walla Walla phsician.

Declares 2 Homes Available

Judge Renews Juvenile Plea

"If the commissioners wanted to, they could acquire a juvenile detention home by renting one," Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer said today. Cramer has been campaigning for a detention home for the county ever since the Salvation Army closed their detention quarters in January.

The Judge also said that there are two buildings on East Second street that can be had for less than $10,000 each. If either were purchased it would need some repair and reconversion work, but the cost shouldn't be high enough to deter the project, he said.

"Whether the county buys or rents we need a detention home now!" Judge Cramer said.

The cost of using the Salvation Army quarters in 1948 was $2,-243.49. Judge Cramer said that if rooms were rented elsewhere the cost would be about double that because the Salvation Army charged less than could be expected from private individuals.

CASES DECREASE

The number of juveniles who required detention has decreased steadily since 1945 Judge Cramer said. The cost of detention facilities would be less than it was then he pointed out because of the fewer cases. The matron at the Salvation Army quarters was paid $600 annually, the janitress received $720 and laundry and meals last year totaled $623.49. The Salvation Army charged $300 for the rent of the rooms.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said that a capital outlay to build a detention home would require a bond issue. Any capital outlay over $20,000 requires a bond issue for building.

Wolfe said he hadn't discussed the problem with the commissioners. He said, however, he did not believe it impossible for the county to pay for rent and maintenance of a

Farm Bill Seen Losing

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Administration-backed House farm legislation today appeared headed for defeat in an upset that could have wide political repercussions.

A Democratic leader privately predicted that barring a sudden reversal of sentiment over the weekend the House would vote next week to continue through 1950 the existing farm legislation.

This would block passage of the White House-supported measure sponsored by Rep. Pace (D) Ga., which repeals the Republican-enacted Hope - Aiken farm law. The Pace bill maintains basic farm support prices at their present high levels, and authorizes Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to try out his new farm production payment program on an experimental basis.

At the same time, members of a Senate agriculture subcommittee considering the Brannan program conceded generally that the program has no chance of enactment this session.

Thoma Leading Evans

Pete Thoma, Mansfield's swashbuckling golfer-truck driver, continued on his merry way towards the finals of the Ohio Amateur golf tournament at Westbrook Country club today, standing 3 holes ahead of Dick Evans, Shaker Heights, at the end of nine holes.

Evans pulled the surprise of the tournament yesterday when he downed Harold Paddock of Cleveland, defending champion, in a match which went 22 holes.

The rangy six-foot four 18-year-old from the University of Michigan recovered after dropping a shot in the water hole on the 21st hole to nail the match.

RUNNING TWO UNDER

Thoma, running two under par with a 34 at the turn, birdied both the fourth and eighth holes, capturing both. Evans was hitting trouble on the greens, three-putting both the the par 3 sixth and the eighth although he came in with a par on the latter hole. He had a 37 for the first nine.

They halved the first three, the fifth, seventh and ninth.

Al Hager, a Mansfield pretourney favorite, was one down at the end of six holes of play against Lou Martin of St. Clairesville. Vince Leskosky of Youngstown and Pete Dye of Urbana were even at the end of two holes.

Leskosky uncorked a 260-yard iron shot on the second hole to post an eagle 2.

Leskosky and Thoma are the only two public links golfers still in the running for the title.

The 36-hole finals will be played over the rugged Westbrook course tomorrow.

Ohio's Hero, Rodger Young, Coming Home

CHICAGO — (AP) — The hero of "The Balad of Rodger Young" is going home.

The body of the Pacific war hero will be sent to his home, Green Springs, O., Tuesday. He will be buried July 22.

Rodger Young, posthumous winner of Congressional Medal of Honor, has been immortalized in the ballad written by another solider, PFC Frank Loesser.

Young, a member of the 37th Infantry Division, single-handed engaged a Jap machine gun nest on the island of New Georgia in the Solomons July 31, 1943. He advanced toward the enemy though wounded twice and fought them so his buddies could escape.

'Picnic Weather'

The U. S. Weather bureau posted a week-end "picnic" bulletin today predicting fair and warmer conditions. Scattered showers are expected tonight with slightly lower temperatures.

However, according to forecaster Arvid S. Klemetsmo, both Saturday and practically all of Sunday will be pleasantly warm and free from either clouds or rain — in other words, "ideal picnic weather."

Temperatures in Mansfield for the past 24 hours ranged from 86 at 2:30 p. m. yesterday to 61 at 5:30 a. m. today. The noon temperature was 73.

Bury 21 Victims Of Aerial Crash

BOMBAY — (INS) — Twenty-one victims of the Bombay air crash in which 13 American correspondents died were buried today in the Indian city's Church of England cemetery.

H. R. Knickerbocker, veteran foreign correspondent and WOR radio commentator was among those interred.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Walter Morrow, 54, widely-known newspaperman, died last night of a heart ailment.

Steel Firms Give In

U. S. Steel Hints Action

WASHINGTON—The Bethlehem Steel corporation and the Inland Steel company today accepted President Truman's proposal for a 60-day truce in the steel industry, United Press reported.

Inland officials made their decision known through Cyrus Ching, federal conciliator.

Bethlehem's telegram arrived at the White House while officials of the U. S. Steel corporation reportedly were framing a similar acceptance in New York.

There were reports also that the United Steel Workers Union (CIO) had agreed to a 24-hour postponement of the walkout to give the steel company time to make up its mind. But union sources here would not confirm this.

The reports of a last-minute truce spread rapidly as President Truman stood firm on his original proposal to delay the strike for 60 days while a fact-finding board investigates the dispute and recommends a settlement.

REJECT PROPOSAL

U. S. Steel rejected it and countered with a suggestion that the board study the dispute but make no recommendations. One other large steel company—Republic, also rejected the plan.

A number of smaller companies accepted the President's proposal. One, Great Lakes Steel corporation, is one of the largest suppliers to the automobile industry.

Mr. Truman assigned Federal Mediation Director Cyrus Ching to the job of answering U. S. Steel's proposal for modification—reportedly with a flat "no."

Apparently anticipating a rejection from the White House, the steel company began shutting down its production facilities throughout the country.

At the same time, rank-and-file members of Philip Murray's CIO United Steelworkers were alerted to strike U. S. Steel and other companies that will not go along with the President's plan as it stands. At least three big independents may be struck. They are Republic (70,000), Youngstown Sheet & Tube company (20,000), and Inland Steel (15,500).

The union made plans to call out upwards of 350,000 members.

The President was expected to name a three-member fact-finding panel later in the day.

Empire Officials Decline Comment

Mansfield's Empire steel corporation officials issued a "no comment" statement today on President Truman's request that it cooperate in fact-finding proceedings to avert a steel strike.

Donald W. Frease, president of Empire steel, said the company's contract with the United Steel Workers does not end until Aug. 1 and the company would wait until the deadline before it will comment on the request.

Empire steel workers have returned this week from a two week vacation and are just beginning full scale operations again.

U. S. 'Cool' On Pacific Pact

MANILA —(INS)— Philippine President Elpidio Quirino told his people today that the United States and Britain are "cool to the idea of a Pacific union" against communism.

But he proclaimed the determination of the Philippines and nationalist China to go ahead, nevertheless, with their joint project of leading the free nations of the Far East into a pact to check and turn back the communist tide.

In a dramatic broadcast from his Malacanan presidential palace in Manila, Quirino declared:

"That London and Washington are cool to the idea of a Pacific union is the most natural thing in the world — after all, they have their North Atlantic pact."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Truman today signed into law the multi-billion dollar, long-range housing bill providing for construction of 810,000 dwellings in six years.

They're 'Breathless and Happy'

Mansfield Girl To Accompany Joan Rankin To Washington

Joan Rankin, the 16-year-old Cincinnati Negro girl, recently elected governor of Ohio Girls' State, will go to Washington after all. Along with her will go Mary Jo Hunter, 17, of Mansfield, as alternate to the Girls' Nation assembly.

Trips for both of the girls were made possible last night when the American Legion Auxiliary reversed its former decision not to send Miss Rankin in order to protect her "from the indignities of social discrimination in Washington." The auxiliary said the original decision had been "misunderstood and misrepresented."

Both girls, who had "given up all hope of meeting the President," commented breathlessly today that they were "excited and so happy." Miss Hunter, well-known Madison high school honor student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Hunter, 488 Clifton boulevard.

"I'm so glad they changed their minds," Miss Hunter added, "I wanted to go to Washington so badly. I'm glad Joan gets to go. She's a swell girl. I ran against her right up to the top office in the Girls' State and she was fine all the way through. She certainly was a good sport in winning."

In Cincinnati, Miss Rankin told newspapermen:

"I'm so excited and so pleased. This is truly a moral victory, both for me and for the American Legion Auxiliary in Ohio. Now I'll have to get busy and do some shopping. I'd just about decided I wouldn't get to go and now everything is completely changed overnight."

It was not learned immediately where Miss Rankin would stay in Washington. On Wednesday, Rep. McSweeney (D-Ohio) announced in Washington that a "leading hotel" in the city was willing to provide housing to all girls, regardless of race, who attended the Girls' Nation.

The assembly is expected to be held the latter part of August.

Miss Hunter, who will enter her senior year at Madison next fall, also will serve as editor of the school paper. Her parents are members of the McVey Post Legion and auxiliary, respectively. A member of the Children's Theater here since she was a child, Miss Hunter has served as assistant director at the theater the past four years.

The pretty dark - haired Mansfielder enjoys horseback riding, swimming and reading in her spare moments and earned her senior life saving badge last year with the Red Cross program.

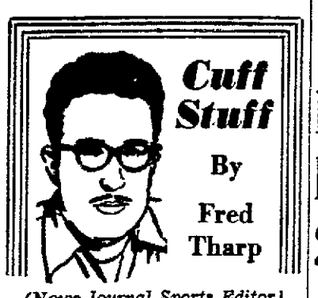
Thoma, Hager Reach Golf Quarter-Finals



Cuff Stuff
By
Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

Ohio "Am" Notebook:

Luck of the draw in the 43rd simonpure golf scrambling of the Buckeye state did weird things to the Mansfield entry. . . . First Carl Wiseman knocked out Bob Carpenter, then Wiseman bowed to Al Hager. . . . Pete Thoma then eliminated Dale Rose. . . . So of the seven Mansfielders who reached match play in the tourney, three were put on the sidelines by fellow townsmen. . . . Only 13 publinx stars were in the field of 183 which teed off Monday. . . . Two were among the eight left after yesterday's firing. . . . Just goes to show that the fee course players can play with the best.

★

This fellow Thoma attracts a lot of attention and is in the way of being a character. . . . He works for Wiseman at the Commercial Scrap company and easily boasts the biggest biceps in the meet. . . . The ever-present chew of eatin' tobacco makes him look as if he's swallowed a couple of golf "pills." . . . He quit golf for three years before he went into the army where "I was a corporal most of the time and once made sergeant for a day." . . . Pete started playing again in the service and twice won a club championship in Tacoma. . . . In 1946 he dropped out again to build a home but is now the Coolridge club champ. . . . He's 30 years old. . . . Homer King gave him a carton of Mail Pouch tobacco to start the week's play and Pete already has chewed up 10 packages.

About the other players who reached the quarter-final round:

Al Hager, Mansfield—Present Westbrook champion and twice Richland county champ . . . A 25-year-old ex-Marine, Al now sells Filter Queen vacuum cleaners . . . Reached the semi-final round of the 1948 Ohio 'Am' in Dayton . . . Has drawn the biggest gallery every day, although yesterday had to split the fans with Thoma and Rose.

Lew Martin, St. Clairsville—A 31-year-old farmer who plays golf as a hobby . . . Started to college at Ohio State but had to transfer to University of New Mexico for his health . . . Pete Takes Rose Out On 20th Hole

By CHARLEY STINE

Swashbuckling Pete Thoma and the sharp-firing Al Hager held a firm grip on two of the eight berths today as the 43rd Ohio Amateur golf tournament entered its next-to-last day at Westbrook Country club.

The field will be cut to the two finalists by nightfall and if the two Mansfielders can get by their morning matches, one of them is sure to go the 36 holes for the title tomorrow. They meet in a semi-final scrap this afternoon.

Thoma, who meets Dick Evans, 19-year-old Cleveland collegian, soared to his greatest heights on the links with yesterday's victories. His two triumphs established something which many Mansfielders have found out the hard way—that Coolridge Pete" is one of the toughest match players in the state.

Thoma took out 1946 runner-up Max McConnell of Coshocton in yesterday's morning round by a two and one margin and then eliminated Dale Rose in a 20-hole marathon in the afternoon.

Evans, a slightly-stooped six-foot-four University of Michigan up-coming sophomore, wrote his name in the history books yesterday by eliminating defending Champion Harold Paddock one up on the 22nd hole.

TAKES ON MARTIN

Hager, meanwhile, stroked a three-under-par figure in beating Mansfielder Carl Wiseman in the morning and batted out Fred Wilts of Findlay, 2 and 1, in the afternoon. By doing so he won the right to take on Lew Martin of St. Clairsville in this morning's round.

Martin won over John Zoller, Ohio State University greenskeeper, 3 and 2, while other matches went to Ed Meister of Cleveland, 2 and 1 over Dan Carmichael of Columbus, Jack Fitzpatrick, Akron, 4 and 3 over Tom Strange of Cincinnati; Vince Leskosky, Youngstown, 3 and 2 over Dow Finsterwald, Athens; and Pete Dye, Urbana, 3 and 2 over Steve Pipoly of Youngstown Today's matches pair Meister and Fitzpatrick, Leskosky and Dye.

Regardless of what kind of golf is played from here on out, no match will beat the Rose-Thoma battle for sheer drama. Both men were playing at their best most of the time although both had weak moments when they gave away something they should have had in the bag.

It is doubtful if either will ever forget the 18th hole when Rose's putt stopped on the side of the cup, rested for a full 15 seconds and then dropped in. Dale had topped an iron shot coming up the fairway and got only a five, but Pete three-putted to send the match into extra holes.

On the 19th it looked as if it was all over, when Thoma, still visibly nervous, babied his second shot and had it fall short of the green. With everything riding on one swing, however, Pete chipped on, the ball circled the cup and sat on the back edge. Rose took a legitimate four.

HITS LOW BALL

Both drove to the rough on the left of the 20th hole and Rose had to hit his ball low to avoid a tree. It ran over the green, while Thoma, a little nearer the hole, lofted a high pitch to the carpet. He two-putted while Rose needed an extra stroke to get back on the green

The cards showed both playing three over par for the first 18 holes

Thoma came from behind to tie with a bird on the 16th hole. He had not led since the sixth when Rose knocked in a 25-foot putt for a birdie two. Pete had won the third as Rose took a bogey. Everything else was halved until the 10th. A bogey there put Pete two down and he never got ahead again until the end.

Hager also had an uphill fight as he lost the first three holes He cut the margin to two as Wilts slipped to a double-bogey seven on five, and then canned a long putt for a "bird" on six. Wilts birdied the seventh to regain his lead but Hager birdied the eighth.

Al caught up on the tenth when Wilts took a bogey and went two up with "birds" on 12 and 13. He lost the 14th but won the 15th and halved the next two to end the match.

Al's afternoon card showed even par and put him three strokes under for 31 holes he played during the day.

The fifth Mansfielder to play yesterday, Arnie Adams, lost out to Leskosky in the morning round, 4 and 3

Publinx Field Narrows To 4

LOS ANGELES—(AP)— One favorite came through and another fell late yesterday as the National public links golf championship narrowed down to four survivors for tomorrow's 36-hole semi-final round.

Victors in the sixth round this afternoon, in the order of the draw: Ken Towns, San Francisco, defeated Eddie Kletche, Chicago, 1 up.

Phil Kunkel, Salt Lake City, defeated Paul Mac Donald, Renton, Wash., 3 and 2.

Lou Barnes, Alhambra, Calif., defeated Don Shock, Dayton, O., 1 up on the 18th hole.

Bill Betger, San Francisco, defeated Kermit Hagar, Oklahoma City, 5 and 4.

Parker and Gonzales In Tennis Semi-Finals

CHICAGO — (UP) — Second-seeded Frankie Parker met fourth - seeded Herb Flam today in the semi - finals of the national clay courts tennis tournament.

Defending champion Pancho Gonzales plays Victor Seixas in the other semi-final tomorrow.

Peggy Kirk Big Favorite In Women's Golf Tourney

TOLEDO—(AP)—Findlay's Peggy Kirk, a veteran of the tournament circuit, was a strong favorite to retain her Ohio women's golf crown today.

Miss Kirk, winner of the title for the past two years, opposed Claire Doran, 25-year-old Cleveland swinger. Miss Doran has taken the Cleveland city title four times, but in four previous attempts in the state meet, has never passed the quarter final stage.

The two broke even in two former meetings. The Findlay Country club stylist ousted Miss Doran in the Ohio women's tournament two years ago in Akron and the Clevelander won when they tangled in the Women's Western amateur in 1944.

Playing her best golf of the tournament, Miss Kirk eliminated Pat Harrington of Steubenville, 6 and 5, yesterday. Miss Doran advanced with a 3 and 2 victory over Barbara McIntire, the 14-year-old Toledo sensation.

Peggy romped through the outbound nine in 36, three under par, and then closed out the match on the 13th. Miss Harrington, although hitting a long ball, lacked consistency with her irons and took 40 strokes on the first nine.

Miss Doran dropped just two holes in her victory and came in with a one-under par 38 for the outgoing nine. Her grammar school opponent, playing in her first state meet, carded a 40.

Tournament officials said the Toledo girl was the youngest ever to advance to the semi-finals in the meet's 26-year history.

Gorman-Rupp Drops League Contest, 4-3

ORRVILLE — Mansfield Gorman - Rupp dropped its fourth Ohio Major league softball game here last night by a 4-3 margin to the Orrville Bronze Highlanders.

It was another loss for Bob Regula, who held the opposition to four hits but walked three men and let the hits be made at the wrong time. Pisegna, Orrville second-baseman, rapped out the only home run of the game.

Wayne Hough was the only Mansfielder to get two hits, but the hard-swinging Stretch Regula came through in the ninth inning with a pinch - hit double. Gorman-Rupp scored two of its runs in the final frame.

The Pumpers will be host to Wooster Lumber tonight in another league game at G-R' field at 8.30. Stretch will get the call to do the pitching in this contest.

Kent Stater Gets Sandusky Post

SANDUSKY — (INS) — Robert Beachy, 24-year-old 1949 Kent State graduate, was signed as assistant football and basketball coach today at Sandusky high school.

His appointment completes the school's coaching staff, Supt. Karl E Whinnery announced.

Beachy, a former Rittman sports star and a native of Orrville, succeeds Lewis Cardinal, who withdrew last week to become head grid mentor at Lorain high school

Big Field Set For Best-Ball Meet Sunday

The Mansfield's Athletic commission's first Amateur-Amateur best-ball tournament Sunday will have 134 competitors, it, was revealed at a meeting of the tournament committee last night.

The tournament will be held in four classes with the AA and A players touring Coolridge and the class B. and C. players firing their 18 holes at Possum Run.

Class B has the largest field with 26 teams entered. Twenty will battle in A with twelve playing in AA and seven in class C. Classification of all players was made by Possum Run Pro Irish McGee and Fred Huntsman of Coolridge. Starting times will be announced tomorrow.

The committee voted to divide the four classes, so that the winner in Class C. will get as much as the winner in B, regardless of the number of teams that are playing. Prizes will be merchandise in order to retain amatuer standing.

Prizes will be given only for the first two places and all ties must be played off sudden death. No trophies will be given.

The committee also set up the next best-ball tourney for August 14, and the city tournament for August 21 and 28. The latter will be a 36-hole affair with 18 holes to be played at Possum Run and 18 at Coolridge.

Haas Shoots 66 For Lead

PITTSBURGH, PA. — (AP) — Fred Haas jr., a New Orleans family man whose 7 - year - old daughter is his biggest rooter, held a one-stroke lead today as the 72-hole dapper dan open golf tournament went into its second 18-hole round .

Haas was just about neglected gallerywise yesterday as he came through with a six - under par 36-30—66 over the hilly 6,850 yard alcoma club course. But, with his daughter tagging along, he fashioned an even par 36 going out and a great 30 coming home.

Sammy Snead, the national PGA champion from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va , Herman Barron, White Plains, N. J., and Lloyd Mangrum. Chicago, all tied for second with 67's.

Wins Two Games

ST. PAUL — (AP) — Durable Clem Labine, appearing in his 35th and 36th games as a relief pitcher, scored two victories as St. Paul took an American association doubleheader from Louisville, 10-9 and 8-6. here last night.

Mansfield AC Wins Eighth League Tilt

The Mansfield Athletic club scored its eighth Central Ohio Junior league victory yesterday by an 8-1 victory over Ashland at Ashland. AC has lost three games.

Madison, meanwhile, shut out Lexington, 6-0 for its seventh win against four defeats. Lexington has dropped 10 of 11 games. Ed Thomas was the winning Madison hurler as he gave up only two hits. Madison got but four off of Duane Wirick but put them together at the right time.

Madison plays at Perrysville Sunday in the first of five straight games. It entertains Ashland Monday and Lucas Thursday and travels to Lexington Tuesday and Ashland Wednesday.

Champ Faces Suspension

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Gus Lesnevich and NBA heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles today face the horrifying prospect of being suspended by the Cincinnati boxing commission.

The commission ruled yesterday that Lesnevich would be violating a contract for a return bout with Joey Maxim if he fights Ez in New York as scheduled.

Members said they would then act against Charles for fighting Lesnevich, who would then be under suspension.

Reject Czech Order To Quit

GSTAAD, SWITZERLAND — (AP) — Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, Czechoslovakia's top tennis stars, rejected today a Czech government order to return to Prague. They announced they were going into exile and hoped to reach the United States.

The two players had withdrawn from Swiss International tennis tournament yesterday after the Czech government withdrew permission to play here because two Germans and a Spaniard were competing.

This morning they announced they would play out the remainder of the tournament.

Drobny has reached semi-finals of tourney here and Cernik is in quarter-finals.

Pitches Shutout

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Frank Hiller pitched a shutout last night and contributed a pair of two-base hits in Kansas city's 3 to 0 victory over Indianapolis.

Legion Blasts Crestliners

Mansfield American Legion softballers trounced Motorists Mutual of Crestline, 17-5, yesterday at Crestline.

The Mansfielders scored in every inning but the fifth, including a nine-run outburst in the third frame. Fogel led the attack with two singles, a double, and triple in five times at bat.

Cleveland Ball Fan Still Aloft

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Despite heat, fatigue and an expected baby, Charley Lupica, Cleveland's flag-pole sittin baseball fan, is still aloft today for the 46th consecutive day

Charley perched on a wooden platform 22 feet above his eatin side beverage and patent medicine store at noon May 31 and vowed he would stay there until the Cleveland Indians reached first place in the American league.

He's been there ever since but his biggest worry right now isn't the league standing of the Indians but the impending arrival of his fourth child in about two weeks.

"If anything is going to strain my self-control, the birth of the baby will do it." Charley said "I'll have to see the kid up here if the team doesn't make first by then."

Charley, who has a boy and two girls, wants another boy to balance the family lineup He's now 'Charley Flagpole Lupica" If a girl it may be "Sharlene"

President Bill Veeck of the Indians indicated he'll have an ambulance standing by for Mrs Lupica when the big day arrives

She feels that "if Charles can live on a platform, I suppose I shouldn't complain about the crazy business of having babies"

As Charley explains "my troubles started when I got in a barroom argument about the Indians and agreed to sit on a pole until they reached first They were in seventh place then They're in second place now, only five and a half games behind New York," he added.

No matter what the Indians do, Charley won't stay aloft after the end of the baseball season

Cleveland Wins But Can't Gain on Yankees

Lemon Knocks Off Philadelphia, 7-1

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The Cleveland Indians, off to a good start on the current home stand, but still five and a half games out of first, take on the Philadelphia A's again tonight in the second game of their three-clash series.

Although the tribesmen went out at Cleveland stadium last night and polished off the A's, 7-1, behind the three-clash series.

Although the Tribesmen went out at Cleveland stadium last night and polished off the A's, 7-1, behind the three-hit hurling of Bob Lemon, it did them little material good in their Yankee-chase.

The New Yorkers kept pace by knocking off the St. Louis Browns, 5-0.

However, the victory, ninth in the Tribe's last 10 games, did move Cleveland two and a half games ahead of the third-place Mackmen and permitted Lemon to boost his season record to a respectable 10-won, four-lost mark.

The California right-hander was more than adequate as Cleveland batsmen blasted Alex Kellner of the A's for 10 hits, including home runs by Ray Boone and Larry Doby, and three other extra-base blows

Lemon, meanwhile, faced but 34 Mackmen, with only seven of the 34 able to hit the ball out of the infield There were 24 putouts in the Cleveland inner cordon and 19 of those were at first base—nearly tying a league record.

The Cleveland ace gave up the A's lone tally in the fifth inning, when, with Catcher Mike Guerra on second, Shortstop Eddie Joost dribbled a single into left field.

WILDNESS HURTS

Kellner's wildness gave the Tribesmen a run in the first inning. After granting singles to Dale Mitchell and Mickey Vernon, the Philadelphia southpaw walked Joe Gordon and Manager Lou Boudreau, sending Mitchell trotting home.

Boone's homer with Mitchell aboard accounted for two more markers in the second Doby, who walked, moved to second on a hit and to third on a sacrifice, scored on a wild pitch in the third

The Tribe centerfielder blasted his 14th home run of the season in the fifth for the Tribe's fifth run. He also scored in the seventh when he doubled and was doubled home by Gordon.

Lemon tripled against the fence in right field to open the eighth and crossed the plate on a long fly to center by Boone.

The defeat was Kellner's fifth against 12 wins

Dick Fowler, Philadelphia's sore-armed phenom, was scheduled to hurl against fireball Bob Feller in tonight's contest.

Fowler, a portsider, will be seeking to better his 8-5 mark Feller will be after his seventh win He already has lost six

Five Softball Games Slated In 3 Leagues

Five games in three leagues are included in tonight's softball bill of fare.

The top attraction on the card pits Ideal Electric against Lumbermens in a postponed National league fray. Ideal can go into a four-way tie for first place in the circuit by winning this one at the Farm Tools field.

The other postponed tilt puts Disabled American Veterans against Todd's Jewelry at Johns park. DAV holds down third place in the first round in the American league while Todd's boasts an over-all record of 29 victories and nine defeats.

Regular slate of three contests is booked in the International loop. The schedule: American Veterans Committee vs. East Side Nite club at Prospect park, Tom's Restaurant vs. Lee's Lunch at North Lake park, and Westinghouse Engineers vs. Amvets at Liberty park.

Undefeated American Legion holds a bye. The Legion, AVC and Engineers are tied for the second round lead with victories in their only starts

All league contests begin at 6 15 p. m.

Casper Fires 37 In League

Joe Casper's three-over-par 37 was good enough to lead Sons of Herman league in its regular session last night at Coolridge. Steve Stirtzinger shot a 38.

The Presidents lead the league with 24 points Trustees follow with 21; Bartenders, 19½, Membership, 15½, Guards, 12½; Managers, 10½, Treasurers, 7½, and Janitors, 6½.

Athletics Sign 2 Ohio Players

PHILADELPHIA, PA., —(INS) — Two Ohio youngsters were working out today as recent arrivals at farm clubs of the Philadelphia athletics.

The athletics announced yesterday they had signed 19-year-old right handed pitcher Richard Schoonover of Akron and first baseman Eugene Fellmeth of Fulton Schoonover went to Martinsville, Va., and Fellmeth to the athletics' farm at Portsmouth.

Four Teams Compete In Legion Ball Meet

SHELBY — Four teams will compete in the fifth district American Legion junior baseball tournament Saturday and Sunday at Bellevue.

Still in the running for the title won last year by Mansfield are Loudonville, Galion, Loraln, and Elyria. Drawing for opponents is scheduled tomorrow at 12:30 p m. with the first game slated to begin at 1 p m

Good Old Days

GALION — Local baseball fans will get a glimpse of the good old days on the diamond on July 21 when an Old Timers baseball game will be played at East Side park for the park fund benefit. All the stars of the team must be over 40 years old CONTEMPLATION—Husky Pete Thoma, Mansfield public links star, has a far-away look in his eyes as he stands near the trophy which will be awarded at the 43rd annual Ohio Amateur golf tournament The trophy goes to the club of the winning golfer. Standing out in Pete's right cheek is the ever present chew of tobacco. Thoma yesterday reached the quarter-final round in the tourney.

2 Unbeaten Teams Absorb First Church Loop Defeats

The Church softball league was rocked yesterday by a pair of upsets which knocked Park Avenue Baptist and First Congregational from the undefeated list

St Matthew's, buried deep in the second division, knocked off First Congregational, 7-2 at Johns park while First Methodist blasted Park Avenue Baptist, 12-2, at Prospect. First Congregational had won five straight games and Park Avenue Baptist, six

The two teams still hold the league lead, however as third place First Methodist has been beaten twice

Fine pitching jobs by Bill Maul of First Methodist and Ray Beal of St. Matthews turned the trick. Maul gave Park Avenue only four singles and two walks while Beal limited Congregational to five hits and threewalks.

Four Square Gospel defeated First Christian in the other game, 9 to 0 Bob Milligan gave the Christians only one hit in turning in the best mound effort of the night. He fanned eight and walked three

'World Series' Set In Japan

ST LOUIS —(INS)— The National baseball congress has announced that Gen Douglas MacArthur has approved plans for a world's series for non-professional teams in Tokyo next year

J G Taylor Spink, NBC global commissioner, said he received notice of MacArthur's approval from Giles C Stedman, NBC's far eastern commissioner.

Spink said the winner of the North America series in Sept, 1950, will represent the western world in Tokyo He also announced MacArthur's headquarters has approved plans for the San Francisco seals to make an exhibition tour to Tokyo this fall

Cleveland Signs Schoolboy Pitcher

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Wally Harr, 18 - year - old former East Tech high school pitcher, has been signed by the Cleveland Indians He left today for the tribe farm club at Batavia, N Y, in the class D pony league.

Harr, a six - foot - two, 165-pounder, finished his last season at the high school with a record of 12 wins and four losses. On the sandlots last year he posted a 15 wins, one loss record.

'Old' Lefty Baffles National Batsmen; Wins 1-To-0 Decision Over Cardinals

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Boston's Billy Southworth couldn't see Ken Heintzelman when he selected his all-star pitchers. Southworth has nothing on the batters. They can't see him either.

The 33-year-old southpaw, who is making a contender of the once-feeble Philadelphia Phillies, is pitching the best ball in the National league He is tied for most victories with 11 He has lost only three Manager Eddie Sawyer hates to think where his fourth place Phils would be without him

Easily enjoying his best season in the majors, Ken has been especially rough on the first division clubs. He holds four decisions over the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers, three over runner-up St. Louis, and one over third place Boston.

Heintzelman further embarrassed Southworth last night when he pitched the Phils to a 1-0 victory over Max Lanier and the Cardinals. It was his third shutout and his second by a 1-0 margin. He blanked the Braves and Chicago Cubs previously.

His 11th victory, which incidentally tied his best previous winning total, resulted when Outfielder Del Ennis crashed his 13th home run with one out in the last half of the ninth The victory advanced the Phils to within one game of the Braves, who were beaten by the Cubs, 3-2.

HELPS DODGERS

The defeat dropped the Redbirds a game and a half behind the Dodgers, who nosed out the Cincinnati Reds, 6-5, in a 10 inning struggle after tying the score in the ninth with two runs A single by Marv Rackley and a double by Billy Cox, both off relief Pitcher Ewell Blackwell, gave the Dodgers their seventh straight triumph over the Reds at Ebbets field.

Dutch Leonard, the Cubs' hard-luck knuckleballer, finally won a close one. At that, he had to bat in the winning run himself with a single in the eighth. The blow scored Frank Gustine and broke a 2-2 tie. Vern Bickford, trying for his 12th victory for the Braves, was charged with his fifth defeat

Johnny Mize clouted his 14th home run with one on in the first inning to lead the New York Giants to a 4-3 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. All National league games thus ended in one-run margins.

The New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox won their games as the Yankees retained their American league lead of five and a half games over the Indians.

Allie Reynolds, who has suddenly found the secret of finishing games not only went the route for the 2nd straight time, but shot out the St Louis Browns 5-0. Joe DiMaggio and Gene Woodling drove in two runs apiece.

Bob Lemon won his 10th game for the Indians and Rookie shortstop Ray Boons drove in three runs with a home run and long fly as the Tribe won its ninth game in the last 10 starts with a 7-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Joe Dobson pitched the Red Sox to their eighth straight victory as Joe McCarthy's forces turned back the Detroit Tigers, 5-2. Al Zarilla cracked a two-run homer for the victors. The triumph advanced the Bosox to within a half game of the third place Mackmen.

Three bases on balls, an error by Eddie Robinson and George Metkovich's bases-loaded single gave the Chicago White Sox four runs in the third inning and helped them defeat the Washington Senators, 6-2. Sam Mele batted in both Senator runs.

12 Bangtails Set To Go In Rich Gold Cup

ARCADIA CALIF —(AP)— The Hollywood Turf club offers the 10th renewal of the 100 000 Gold Cup handicap tomorrow and it appears likely about a dozen thoroughbreds will shoot for one of the two richest purses in the nation

The last run down listed this field of probable starters:

Vulcan's Forge, On Trust, Dinner Gong, Double Jay, Ace Admiral, Miss Grillo, Solidarity, Honeymoon, Pretal, Amble In, Roman In and possibly Bymeabond

At least 50,000 fans are expected to troop to Santa Anita park, scene of Hollywood's transplanted meeting, for another edition of a summer time fixture which boasts the familiar names of such winners as Seabiscuit, Challedon, Kayak II and Big Pebble.

The big horse in the 1949 renewal is Vulcan's Forge, the pride of I J. Collins of Lancaster, O., and all those who had him to win the Santa Anita hundred grander last Feb. 26, which he did.

Vulcan's Forge is also the big question mark of the field. He got banged up a bit in a rough airplane ride here from New York Tuesday. There was some talk that he might not be able to start in the Gold Cup.

Nearly Blind Ex-Player Still Fan

By JOHN GOLIGHTLY
(Central Press Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH—Where do they go, the big, brawny stars who made baseball headlines five and 10 years ago?

Julius (Moose) Solters was one of them. Not an immortal, you understand, just a broad-shouldered kid from Pittsburgh who put in 10 years with Boston, Cleveland, St. Louis and Chicago in the American league.

Moose hasn't changed much since 1943, his last year in baseball, except that he's almost totally blind. He owns a tavern in the Beltzhoover section of Pittsburgh and likes to listen to the Pirate games over the radio.

He walked down the foul line during infield practice one day in 1941 and was hit on the left temple by a thrown ball. It fractured his skull and ruined his baseball career.

Moose tried to keep going for two years with the White Sox after the accident, but had to quit because his sight was failing. Yet the former slugger still carries it off with a smile at his modest tavern.

"I knew I had to stop," Moose said quietly, "because I saw only half of Tiny Bonham when he was pitching at Yankee Stadium." (Bonham, a 6-foot 2-inch, 215-pounder, now pitches for Pittsburgh).

It's pretty tough for an active guy who used to dig coal all day and play ball in the evening. He's only 41 now and the father of five children.

STARTED AT 18

Moose started playing ball at 18 when the family lived in the Hazelwood section of Pittsburgh and Moose's Pop worked in the steel mill.

"I was an outfielder for the Colonial No. 4 mine team in the old Frick River league," Moose related. "I worked in the mine for $6.75 a day. The company threw in 75 cents a day extra as a sort of bonus for playing ball."

Moose spoke slowly, almost thoughtfully, as though trying to create a picture in his mind.

He was an all-the-way right-hander who quickly caught the scout's eye and in 1927 entered organized baseball with the Fairmont, W. Va., team in the

Julius (Moose) Solters

Middle Atlantic league. He put in seven years with Fairmont, Albany, Binghamton, Shreveport and Baltimore.

At Albany, he was tagged "Moose" by Bill McCrory, manager of the club. It happened something like this:

"What's your first name?" McCrory asked the rookie.

"Julius," Solters replied.

"That's a heck of a name," said McCrory, then added:

"You're too big for a man and too small for a horse. We'll call you 'Moose'."

UP TO MAJORS

The Red Sox brought him up to the big time in 1934 after he conked 36 home runs, drove in 157 runs and batted .363 with Baltimore.

Moose did right well. He probably never will have his plaque hung in the hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., yet he was the better than average type of ballplayer without whom there wouldn't be any baseball.

And the pitchers respected him when he stood in there with that big, 38-ounce wagon-tongue, especially Eldon Auker, the former Detroit submarine ball pitcher who unwillingly gave Moose his biggest thrill in baseball.

"I used to hit Auker pretty good. I was with the Browns in '36, think it was July 7, when I smacked three homers in one game off him. That was my best day."

Moose usually was up around the .290 mark during his 10-year major league stint and batted in 100 or more runs in 1935-36-37. For Cleveland in 1937 he larruped 20 home runs—his top mark— and hit .323.

He isn't a guy to depend on memories alone now. Moose thinks maybe his 12-year-old son, Joe, has possibilities as a ball player.

"He sure likes the game a lot," Moose said. "I just bought him a bat the other day, and when he started playing, several years back, I gave him the glove I used in my last game with the White Sox.

LOOKS PRETTY GOOD

"The boys tell me," Moose explained rather proudly, "the kid looks pretty good sometimes hits two or three homers a game. Of course, it's too early to tell."

Moose spends the evenings in his tavern, gassing with his neighbors, and second-guessing a bit on the night games as they are broadcast on the radio.

"Best manager I saw in baseball"

"Well, that's pretty hard to say. I thought Jimmy Dykes (the long-time White Sox pilot) was about the best to play for.

"He always let the players use their own judgment. You know, he figured, if a guy got up in the big time, he must know something about the game. He allowed us wide use of our mental possibilities. And we appreciated it."

Moose wouldn't venture an opinion about the greatest player he ever saw, but he greatly admired Charley Gehringer, the former Detroit second baseman.

"Yeah, it's a great game," Moose emphasized. "Just say for me it's the greatest leveler there is. You won't get any swell heads in the big time. They take it out of you.

"It's a wonderful game," he repeated softly.

He seemed to be peering into the distance but you knew he couldn't see a thing.

Mr. Busher's Sent To Stud

NEW YORK — (UP) — Maine Chance Farm's Mr. Busher, after a short but spectacular racing career, today was headed for stud duties at a Kentucky farm.

The decision to permanently retire the full brother of Busher came yesterday after a re-examination of his legs showed that the three-year-old colt still had not recovered from injuries received in last year's Arlington futurity.

Mr. Busher went unplaced in the Arlington race, but previously racked up three victories in three starts. Purchased for a reported $50,000 as a weanling, Mr. Busher earned $83,875 and a rating as one of the top juveniles of the 1948 season.

Canton Player Signs Boston Baseball Pact

CANTON — (INS) — Shortstop Benny Battista of Canton's West Tusc Merchants class A team soon will join a Boston Red Sox farm club.

Battista, 21, who starred in baseball, football and basketball at South high, was signed by Boston scout Maurice Deloos of Detroit yesterday.

Hopes To Ease Stall Shortage

LEXINGTON, KY — (INS) — A Kentucky horseman last night advocated a plan to retire an estimated 2,000 "useless" horses to ease an acute stable shortage.

Dan Chappell, president of the horsemen's benevolent and protective association, said his organization and the thoroughbred racing association had agreed that the plan was necessary.

He said the proposed system provided for a rule by the state racing commission to deny stall space to any horse that had been in competition for two years, having started at least eight times without finishing first, second or third in a race. Approximately 2,000 horses would be eliminated by the rule.

For Sixth Time

CHICAGO — (INS) — Pitchin' Paul Christman, one of the national football league's greatest passers in seasons past, has signed his sixth contract with the western division champion Chicago Cardinals.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
(By Associated Press)

BATTING—Del Ennis, Phillies and Billy Cox, Dodgers—Ennis clouted a ninth inning home run to give the Phils a 1-0 victory over St. Louis Cardinals. Cox doubled in a 10th inning run to give Dodgers a 6-5 victory over Cincinnati.

PITCHING—Ken Heintzelman, Phillies and Allie Reynolds, Yankees—Heintzelman scattered eight hits in pitching the Phils to a 1-0 triumph over St. Louis Cardinals. Reynolds fanned 10 and allowed only three hits as the Yankees shut out St. Louis Browns 5-0.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Renews Wartime Friendship

Ex-GI Offers Home To Russian Escaper

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A 24 - year - old ex-GI today offered a home in America to a Russian sergeant who became his friend because "I treated him like a brother."

Former Air Force Lt. James P. Eilers, now a foreign affairs student at Geroge Washington university here, was delighted by reports that Russian Sgt. Arnee Konn had deserted to the American zone of Germany in the hope of coming to America.

"I want to send him a message of encouragement and tell him my family will be more than willing to take him in," Eilers said.

Eilers' parents live in Baltimore. His father works for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The story of Eilers' friendship with the 22 - year - old Konn goes back to December, 1945. Eilers, an air force navigator, was billeted a few days in the Karlsruhe hotel in Frankfurt. Konn was serving as German interpreter at a conference between a group of Russian generals and American officials headed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Eilers told Konn about American democracy and wealth and Konn told Eilers about Russian regimentation and poverty.

"I could hardly believe what he told me and he could hardly believe what I told him," Eilers recalled.

They got to talking to each other because Eilers had a smattering of German and Konn, who spoke German fluently in addition to Russian, wanted also to learn English.

When Eilers' German proved inadequate, a pretty girl who presided at the hotel desk, acted as interpreter.

Eilers, a native of Indianapolis, went through high school and his first year of college at Dayton, O. He told Konn about his education and his family. And American electric lights, toilets, plumbing and automobiles.

"I also told him about American elections and he couldn't believe it Eilers said. Konn told Eilers about his family, too. His father, a teacher, had gone to Siberia because he "talked back" to the authorities. He and Konn's mother are now dead. Konn's brothers and sisters were killed in the war," Eilers said.

They traded addresses and planned to meet again in Berlin.

But Eilers never got to Berlin, and in re - planning his life since the war — he's "preparing for the State department" — he never got a chance to reestablish and contact with his Russian acquaintance.

"I had almost forgotten all about him when I heard the report that he had escaped," Eilers said. "He is a good guy. and he's smart, too. He had a good job with the Russians. He certainly is no imbecile. I hope he can come to America."

3 Go To Fort Knox

Three Mansfield area men, Joseph P. Zorn of 948 Lenox avenue, Walter E. Jones of 311 West Third street, and William H. Peters of Loudonville, have just been sent to Fort Knox, Ky., for 14 weeks basic training after enlistment in the regular army, according to the Army Recruiting office.

Zorn is to be given definite assignment in the coast artillery corps, and Peters is to be given assignment in the armored cavalry.

Enlistees in the regular army can now ask for assignments in the cavalry, corps of engineers, field artillery or the coast artillery corps. These assignments will be made after the 14 weeks basic training has been completed.

There are still a few openings in the Aviation Cadets and the Army and Air Force enlisted reserve.

Farm Plan Under Fire

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm bureau, told Congress yesterday that the Brannan plan for farm income stability would bring "stabilized agricultural poverty."

In a stinging attack on the plan, Kline declared in testimony before a Senate agriculture subcommittee that it will make "government handouts" the farmers' only hope for a fair income.

He listed seven "more obvious objections" to the plan, concluding with the declaration that the federation "deplores and condemns" the fact that it has been used to throw the farm problem into "the partisan political arena."

The plan, proposed by Agriculture Secretary Brannan, would seek to maintain farm prosperity by allowing prices to find their own level, while paying the farmers the difference between prices and parity out of public funds.

County Will Get $65,000 More In '49

Intangible Tax Return Upped

Richland county will receive an estimated $353,556 in local government money in 1949, or $65,443 more than was received in the 1948 distribution.

Crawford county will receive an estimated $163,915 compared to $36,805 while Huron county will get about $146,958 in contrast to $123,664 in 1948, the United Press reported from Columbus.

The increase was approved by the state legislature. The comparative figures were prepared by the legislative research bureau and state finance committee.

Allocations are based upon return to counties of origin of the $15,000,000 in state collected intangible taxes and distribution upon a basis of 75 per cent on tax duplicate and 25 per cent on population of the $18,000,000 approved for cities from sales tax receipts.

Fall Planting For Grapes

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(By Central Press)

In most sections of the country grapes can be planted in the fall with as much assurance of success as in the spring, sometimes more, depending, of course, upon the seasons.

If you only have room in your home garden for a row or two of grapes it will be a good investment to give over the space to them. No other fruit - bearing plant responds so generously to attention, adjusts itself to so many conditions or is used for such a variety of purposes.

If rooted vines are to be planted, and this for the home gardener is the practical procedure, the roots should be cut back, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Also note that only one cane of the top should be left, and this should be cut back to two or three buds.

During the first year after planting a grapevine, no pruning or training is usually given, although with vigorous plants, it is a good plan to rub off all except the straightest and strongest of the young shoots that start. A vine properly pruned at the end of the first year is illustrated.

Remember to plant grapevines about two inches deeper than they originally grew in the nursery. Dig a large hole as though preparing to plant a young apple tree. Firm the soil well over the roots. Grape roots descend deep into the soil in search of moisture.

When planting grapes to cover a trellis or arbor, a good planting distance for the vines is 6 to 8 feet apart. In this case, they should be staked during their first winter after planting.

House Cracks Finance Deadlock, Lausche Gets Bill Today

Legislators Scurry To End Session

Delay In Checks Hastens Action

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio lawmakers and Gov. Frank J. Lausche teamed up today to pay old age pensions and end work on the 98th General assembly.

Leaders were to put the $647,122,744 state budget on Lausche's desk about noon. His signature will release money for overdue pensions, state employes' wages and other bills. Ohio went "broke" June 30 when half-year appropriations expired.

The House cracked a deadlock over finances Thursday. Members accepted extensive Senate changes in the record-high, two-year budget. The vote was 85-35 The action was almost unprecedented. Conference committees usually have to compose Senate-House differences.

Delay in July checks for most of Ohio's 125,000 old age pensioners caused the capitulation. Representatives last week spurned a Senate-passed bill carrying money to run the state two months. That left them the alternative of approving the budget or holding up pensions longer.

Senators virtually rewrote the budget in the month they had it. The total came out about the same as approved by the House after 13 weeks of study. But representatives did not like the changes.

House Minority Leader C. William O'Neill (R-Washington) said "it is not satisfactory to us." He labeled it "the bill of the majority" and said the Republicans could not be blamed for delay or mistakes.

Lawmakers pitched in to make this the last day of the session. They have been working 28 weeks and want to go home until final adjournment July 29.

Final action on three major money bills will clear the decks.

Loan Rate on Wheat Now Being Harvested Set At $2.06 By AAA

The loan rate on the crop of wheat now being harvested in Richland county is $2 06 per bushel, Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the Richland county AAA committee, said today.

The present market quotation for number one wheat is $1.70 Taylor said. A loan may be obtained from the government on wheat testing 14 per cent or less in moisture and grading number three or better, or on wheat grading number four or five on test weight only.

An emergency loan equal to 75 per cent of the county loan rate will be made by the county AAA on wheat meeting minimum grade requirements. This may be done if such wheat is placed in temporary storage, on the barn floor, in the garage or any place where it is safe from weather.

The farmer then has 90 days to get it into permanent storage, at which time he can secure the balance of the full loan rate

Richland county is expected to produce about 1,102,020 bushels of wheat this year.

100 Will Go To Camp

About 100 Richland county 4-H club members will attend the annual Richland county 4-H camp from July 25 to 30th County Agent C. N. McGrew announced today.

The youngsters will get instruction in crafts, organized recreation and swimming at Camp Conger in Huron county.

Also on the program are vesper services, camp fires, and "get acquainted" affairs

The capacity of the camp is 100 and reservations will be accepted in the order they are received McGrew said. Those wishing to attend must sign enrollment applications and parents agreements which can be had at the extension office in the Richland county courthouse.

Exchangeites To Go To Night Game

Exchange club members will go to Cleveland Aug 25 to attend a night baseball game between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees.

Bob Finical has made arrangements to accomodate thirtyone couples on a special bus. The bus will leave Mansfield at 4 p. m. Plans have been made for a stop on the way for food Howard Reilly is in charge of reservations.

State Regains Its Lost Acre

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Ohio has finally landed that loose acre Connecticut will officially give it back Monday.

The famed acre was Connecticut's last state holding in Ohio The Nutmeg state once owned hundreds of acres in Ohio bought with money from its sale of the Western Reserve.

In 1896 Connecticut sold the acre to Jackson township (Paulding county) school board for $50. But the shrewd Yankees stipulated the land would go back to Connecticut if it were ever used for other than educational purposes.

Over a half-century later in 1947, the school on the land was abandoned. Connecticut was in Ohio once again

Slash Imports From America

LONDON—(AP)—Britain Thursday sliced 25 per cent off her buying from the world's dollar areas for this year.

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons Britain's imports from the United States and other dollar areas would be limited to $1,200,000,000. In 1948 Britain spent $1,600 000,000 on imports.

Cripps announced a cut in purchases of U. S. tobacco He also said the sugar ration would be lowered from 10 to eight ounces weekly and the recently derationed candy would be back on ration Aug 14

Railroad Ordered To Pay $4,747

Awards Made In Accident Case

Two judgments for a total of $4,747 have been rendered in common pleas court against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, as a result of a train striking a truck - trailer.

The plaintiffs waived trial by jury and the cases were heard by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. The railroad filed neither an answer nor a demurrer in either case.

The Mansfield Transfer and Storage company was awarded a judgment of $2,400 for destruction of tractor - trailer. The other plaintiff, The Massachusetts Fire and Marine Insurance company was awarded $2,347. It had insured the cargo, a pre - fabricated house.

The accident occurred last Aug. 18 at the Lexington-Springmill road crossing.

A suit brought on behalf of Richard Erdenberger, of Mansfield, R D. 4, against William T. Geddes, 212 Park avenue west, has been settled.

The suit charged the youth suffered injuries when he was hit by the Geddes car at the corner of Fourth and Main streets Dec 28, 1946 This action had been filed in common pleas court.

Permission to make the settlement was obtained in probate court since it involved a minor. The entry in that court shows the settlement was for $1,500.

The Bissman company, one of eight beer distributor defendants, has filed an answer to a $20,000, suit filed by Mrs. Elina Prinz, of 57 East Fourth street. The firm denied most allegations.

Mrs Prinz claimed the firms had combined to refuse to sell her beer because she sold it for five cents a glass, which she charged was in restraint of trade. She claims $10,000 damages, and asks a two - fold sum, as provided under, law or $20,000 from the firms.

Thirsty Beasts Ravaging Kenya

LONDON —(INS)— Five thousand frantic elephants are reported ravaging vast areas of Africa's Kenya territory today in a mad search for water.

A severe drought has dried up streams and waterholes in South Africa. The thundering herds have trampled sugar, maize and barley plantations and are invading village main streets in their quest for water.

Electric Wire Insulation Gives Bugs a Choice Menu

By H. W. BLAKESLEE

TROY, N Y. — (AP) — Discovery of invisible bugs that like to eat the insulation of electric wires was announced at Rensselaer Polytechnic institute today.

The bugs are molds of various kinds that work in your basement, in the tropics and in polar regions, and all points between They are invisible except under microscopes, and even a microscope expert fails to detect them unless he knows what to look for.

At Rensselaer they are detected with electricity New methods of insulation have resulted which will soon go into industrial and home use

The experiments here were done for the signal corps of the U. S. Air Force.

During the war, 40 per cent of the electronic equipment sent to the South Pacific was spoiled by molds and moisture, so badly that less than a fourth ever was restored to working order

It was discovered at Rensselaer that wherever human hands touch electrical insulation, molds go to work, because they thrive on the salts from human moisture. Many of the molds attack from the air, while others are present wherever the insulation is made, and place their spores (seeds) on the insulation to wait for good growing conditions These molds eat most every kind of ordinary insulation.

Some new plastics have been found on which the molds can't live The plastics make promising insulators.

At Renesselaer it was also discovered that braided insulation is a sieve for electrical leaks. Moisture gets in between braids and electricity flows out like oil through a wick.

Military Pets Have Private Cemetery Close To Arlington

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Not far from Arlington National cemetery, where America's unknown soldier rests, is a small burial plot for pets whose military owners loved them.

It was started back in the first world war when in 1918 a nondescript dog whose name has now been forgotten died and was buried by men in the 3rd Cavalry whom he had adopted They buried him in a secluded part of Fort Myer, which adjoins the national cemetery.

The pooch had attached himself to the unit on a training march through Virginia A sergeant looked out for him. Oldtimers at the fort recall that at command he would stand quietly beside his master's horse on the parade ground.

There are about a hundred pets — dogs, cats, an alligator, a monkey, a rooster — buried in the plot now. At least a fourth of them lie beneath markers expressing the affection of their owners.

Among the dogs are "Smokie" the "dear beloved pet" of the Fort Myer fire department, and "Sgt. Yardbird," the onetime mascot of Battery C, 55th Field Artillery.

Some of the pets obviously were those of children. But not all.

In one corner is a tiny grave whose marker proclaims that "Peepsie" was especially valued by Col. and Mrs Martin Du Fresne now stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va. "Peepsie" in life was a white leghorn rooster, and as his name implies he was acquired when a chick.

The ball of fluff grew to roosterhood at Fort Myer, where the Du Fresnes were living. He died last year.

A weather-beaten marker tells that "Billy" was the "pet alligator of Stephie Hughes". Still discernable is a picture of Billy who died in 1936.

There is no rank in this graveyard. Some of the pets belong to privates and sergeants, and a number to generals.

Among the latter was "King," a black and white English setter, which for 14 years was "the faithful, loyal, lovable companion" of Maj. Gen. John K. Herr, retired chief of cavalry, and his family.

One of the more elaborate markers is on the grave of "Kane", a Hawaiian-born dog, that belonged to Col. Clifton A. Pritchett, now retired. The marker has on it not only the insignia of the military district of Washington but a poem on friendship.

One of the simpler marker is that over the grave of "Pele". It says simply "Born in Hawaii Died in 1935 Pet of a sergeant."

Truman Says It's Up To 'Business'

INSOFAR as President Truman is concerned, "business" must be depended upon to get this country out of the current slump, despite the handicaps that have been placed in its way by government.

It's Mr. Truman's idea, as presented in his Wednesday night "fireside chat", that an immediate need is for price reductions—without, however, any intimation that there should also be a downward trend in wages.

Extent of unemployment is recognized by the President as "something to worry about," but it's cure, as he sees it, is in increased industrial production made necessary by greater demands for merchandise at lower prices.

But it appears there should be no wage cuts for then the gap between prices and ability to buy would remain the same—so all that remains is to make up the difference out of profits—thus placing the President's philosophy in line with that of some labor leaders who have contended that wages can be increased and prices reduced at the same time.

This line of thinking is not dissimilar to that of the legendary merchant who explained that while he lost a little money on each item he sold, it was the "volume" that resulted in profitable operation.

The President's talk was largely a defense of tremendous federal spending rather than holding any promise of government economy, and his thought seems to center on "business" being able to expand sufficiently to meet all tax demands.

Throughout his talk President Truman played strongly on the expression, "selfish interests", a term which he apparently applies to all those who disagree with his ideas, and it may be wondered just what the outcome would be if there were no curb on the visionary schemes of the man whose business experience is confined to failure in one small enterprise.

Conditions That Cause Illness

IT IS POSSIBLE that thoughts have been so strongly directed toward deplorable conditions existing in China, India, and some European countries, that some things quite close at home have been neglected.

As, for instance, what has been called a "contaminated" suburb of Mansfield where the recent deaths of a couple of young children resulted in disclosure of insanitary conditions held responsible for the spread of intestinal ailments to a high percentage of residents of that area—with young children as the chief sufferers.

While, according to an investigator from the state health department, no one source of the epidemic had been discovered up to yesterday, contributing factors were identified as contaminated water from wells close to privies; garbage thrown outdoors; lack of screens to keep out disease-carrying flies, and general disregard of sanitation measures in the area.

Growth of suburban Mansfield, coupled with the housing shortage, has resulted in some distressing conditions, such as those found by health department investigators in this instance, but it should be taken into account that sanitation is an essential to health and that this outbreak of disease becomes a matter of community concern rather than being confined to its own particular area.

Catholic Church Bars Communists

THERE IS NO equivocation in the attitude of the Catholic church toward communism, and this is now heralded to the world in a decree by Pope Pius XII which orders excommunication from the church of all Catholics "who make profession of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the communists."

While this momentous edict has little, if any, application in the United States, where Catholics have always been strongly aligned against communism, it is of great importance in a number of European countries where some Catholics have been attracted by communism, as in Italy, which while almost 100 per cent Catholic, is reputed to have almost two million communists.

This wholesale excommunication order is believed to have had no precedent in the 1900-year history of the Catholic church and evidences the seriousness with which the present world situation is viewed by church leaders who are close to the scene of communistic efforts to destroy all religions.

Jails Are Not For Little Folks

IT SEEMS ODD that such a prosperous county as Richland should have so long neglected the matter of providing a juvenile detention home, which is regarded as essential to any community of this size—and which is a requirement under state law.

Dependence was placed, for many years, on the Salvation Army to supply quarters for detention of juvenile offenders, but this was recognized as a temporary arrangement, pending action to arrange for an actual county detention home.

Year after year went by without action, with lack of money as the constant excuse by county commissioners—just as it is now.

So what! Are jails to be used for detention of juvenile offenders who are thus to carry this in their minds through life? Are the people of Mansfield and Richland county satisfied to let this condition continue or are the county commissioners to be told that such a situation is intolerable and that it is up to them to find a way out.

Safety experts say that a large number of automobile accidents are attributable to the recklessness of younger drivers. In some cases this might indicate that the minimum age for driving should be raised. In all cases it indicates the wisdom of a solid course of driving instruction for the high school student.

Some people seem to feel it is the duty of government to make them prosperous in spite of themselves.

What Some Other People Are Saying

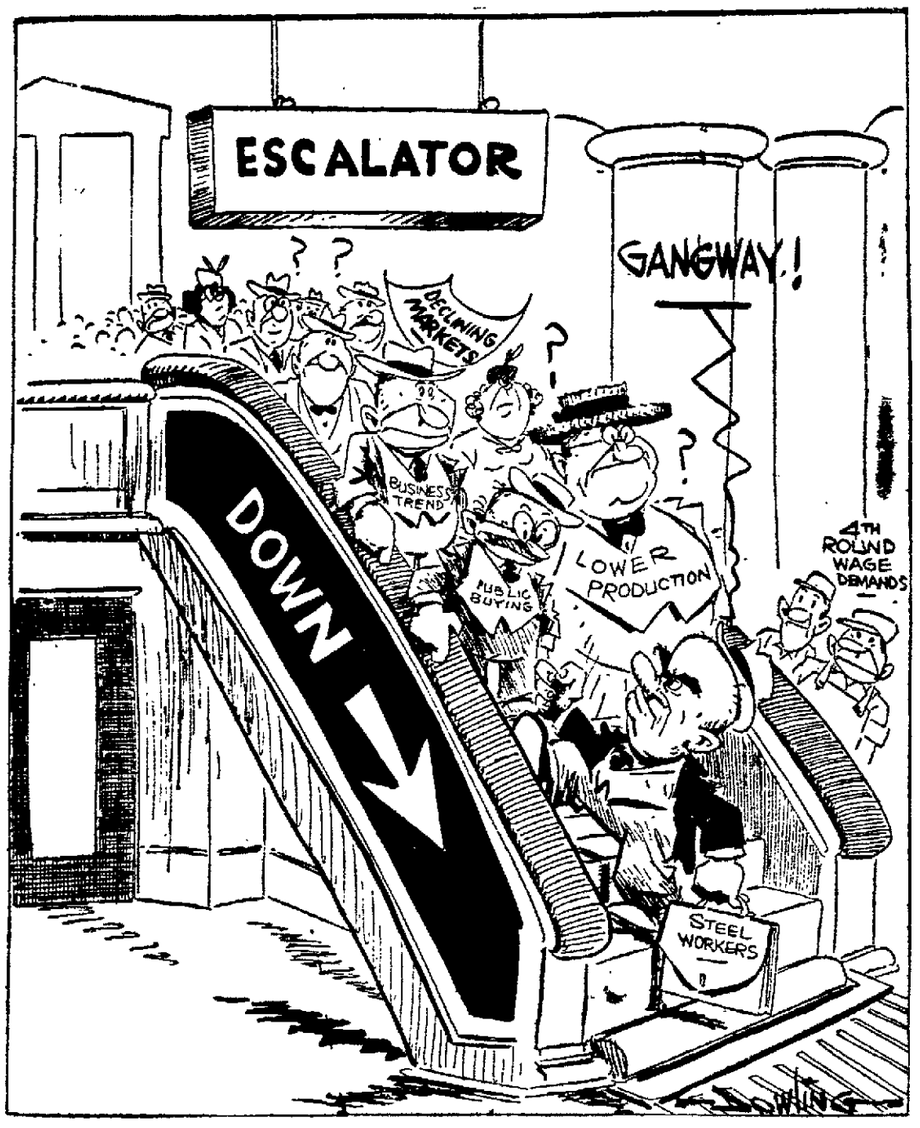
PRESIDENT TRUMAN: "Unless we do expand our production steadily, we run into economic difficulties. We cannot stand still. We must expand if we are to stay prosperous."

* * *

HENRY FORD II: "We're going to be in a buyer's market this fall and we can't keep prices down if wages go up."

* * *

Former Supreme Court Justice OWEN J. ROBERTS: "Let us show both friends and foes that while Americans recognize the value of open discussion on public issues with room for disagreement, we also know when to stop talking and start acting."



Waiting to See How Mr. Murray Comes Out.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

England Troubled By Slump In Trade

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, British chancellor of the exchequer, in his long statement about England's financial troubles, has made it clear that the hopes for recovery that his predecessors in government had held four or five years ago have not materialized.

Our big loan of nearly four years ago lasted less than two years. Meanwhile, we have taken over the cost of the British zone in Germany and are paying between $1,000,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 to England under the Marshall Plan.

The general idea was that our help could end in 1952. But, says the British weekly, The Economist, "1952 is now."

This does not mean that the self-sufficiency that England anticipated for 1952 has come, but that the crisis expected in that year has arrived and England is not prepared for it.

It means that England has reached a point where, even with the Marshall Plan money and everything else we have done, she faces a crisis almost as serious as she faced before we extended our help.

Putting aside for the moment the complicated problems of money exchange let us look at the situation in terms of goods.

England traditionally has been to a large part of the world what a county seat or small city used to be to a rural area in our Middle West — where farmers brought grain to a mill and flour and "middlings" and other products were returned; where farmers deposited money and got loans from banks; where manufactured articles could be bought.

* * *

Diminishing Trade.

ENGLAND was more than the world's general store, because it made goods as well as traded in goods. Like the cities described by William Jennings Bryan, England could not of itself support its people. Cut it off from the world, and it would starve.

Its convenient location and its cheap seagoing transportation gave it a trading advantage. And it had an intelligent, industrious people with many great technical skills. Its bankers knew money, and its traders were shrewd and progressive.

At the end of the war, England was assured that it still had all these advantages and that, despite the fact that it was prety well "broke" with the help of some borrowed money, the wheels would again turn, money would flow in and things would be as they were.

But Cripps and others tell us that recovery has not taken place, despite the loans and despite great self denial.

Much of what Cripps has to say deals with England's diminishing reserves of gold and dollars. This is roughly the nation's working capital.

We are paying into that capital something like $100,000,000 a month. But the British reserve, because of the necessity of importing costly food and raw materials, is nevertheless going down more than $100,000,000 a month. Cripps says that for safety the reserve should be $2,000,000,000. It is now about $1,500,000,000 and sinking.

To stop this drain, one or both of two courses are indicated: to import less and export more. Cripps makes it clear that these courses, so far as stopping the reserve decline is concerned, apply to trading with "dollar" countries.

Leaders among these countries are the United States, Canada and Switzerland. Belgium and Portugal are partially "dollar" countries.

To give up trade with the "dollar" countries and trade only with sterling countries would be fatal to England. Such economic insulation was possible in Hitler's Germany largely because it reverted to bi-lateral trading and because it could with some ingenuity feed itself.

That would be impossible in England's case. The prosperous storekeeper must have trade with prosperous customers. The validity of Cripps' other alternatives will be the subject of another column.

Now Is Testing Time

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — President Truman properly and frankly recognized that our democratic system — and by the same token democratic systems all over the world — face their greatest challenge today in how we in the United States meet the current threat to our continued prosperity.

This stood out in his economic report to Congress in which he cited the bad factors as well as the good in what he hopefully called "a transition period." All we have done through our history to make ourselves a great, free, productive people is at stake.

"The whole world," he said, "is watching developments in the American economy. Our own people insist upon the maintenance of prosperity, and will not tolerate a depression. Our friends abroad know that their well - being and hopes for world peace are greatly dependent upon the economic strength of the United States. Those opposed to our system and way of life are hoping for the vindication of their prophecies that economic collapse is inevitable in a free society.

"Ours is at once a fateful responsibility and an inspiring opportunity to prove to ourselves and to the world that prosperity and freedom will endure together."

In the success with which we bolster our economy and stabilize it will depend the effectiveness of our defense against communism — here and in Europe and in Asia — and not upon how loud our demagogues can scream about communists, or how many public spy hunts we carry on, or how slyly certain unprincipled persons and interests use the communist cry to defeat measures we need to protect the welfare of our people.

* * *

When Depression Hits.

THE HEALTH of our economy is our real bulwark, as it has been through our history. It is only in times of economic distress that desperate people look to other philosophies. The greatest threat to our system was in the prolonged depression that started in 1929, but we weathered that, not by fed hunts and spy hunts but by bold democratic leadership that inspired and aroused our people to buckle down and adopt the necessary measures for our salvation.

Some people called those measures "communistic" and "socialistic," but they saved us.

Appropriately President Truman referred to that other era.

"Within the memory of this generation," he said, "we have experienced both the terrible consequences of inaction and the saving value of affirmative policy. It is consistent with the whole history of American progress to recognize that, now as before, action can and should be taken to make our economy still stronger and to deal with the new problems of the present."

Today, because of what we did then, we have cushions in our economy against shocks. There are people out of work today—some 3,000,000 or more — and there are lines today, but people in those lines are waiting for checks to tide them over, or for jobs at employment offices, and are not hungry, disconsolate human beings waiting for a bowl of soup or a hand-out as in that other era.

Old people who are out of the labor market are getting something every month so they can at least live, instead of suffering, as in those other days.

President Truman proposes to strengthen these cushions — through increase of the minimum wage; expansion of unemployment and old age protection and increased benefits; provision of sufficient supports for farm prices to keep our economy in balance; preparation of plans for public works, and the like.

But he would go beyond this negative, protective phase. He calls American business and industry to a bold, dynamic and positive program of expansion and, for this, he offers certain encouragements by government in more liberal RFC loans, tax incentives, a study of new fields of investment and development.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Monday, July 15, 1929.

Work on addition to Mansfield-Leland hotel was progressing rapidly.

Preferred stockholders of Ohio Brass company received quarterly dividend checks.

Mansfield board of education asked for $763,061 to operate schools during 1930 — a reduction of $21,000 from 1929 budget.

Mrs. J. J. King, 88, died at her home, 104 West First street.

Four new members were received into Y's Men's club at meeting held at Moore's tea-room.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Grandstaff, 115 Stocking avenue.

Three small Mansfield boys who were "running away from home" were found in Galion and brought back.

Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Harper left on extended tour of northwestern states.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Former Trust Busters Reverse Stand

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A bill vitally affecting small-business men came within a hair's breadth of being passed in Congress the other day. The law was so technical that it was difficult for senators and representatives to catch its full significance—let alone the poor public.

Also, some congressmen were thrown off guard by the fact that two trusted liberals fronted for the bill. They were: Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Rep. Emmanuel Celler of New York, Democrats.

However, two alert freshmen senators and one sophomore representative intervened. Their amendments should save small business from legalized cutthroat competition by which the big trusts could bleed them to death. The three interveners were Kefauver of Tennessee, Long of Louisiana (son of the famed Huey), with Rep. John Carroll of Denver—all Democrats.

Chain of events—here are the facts in the complicated legislative battle which might have wrecked many small-business men.

For two decades and more, certain well-organized groups, such as the cement and steel industries, sold under the basing-point system. This meant that the price of cement was the same in every part of the U. S. A. A cement company in Allentown, Pa., for instance, could absorb the freight costs in shipping to New Orleans, thus selling in Louisiana for the same price it sold in Pennsylvania.

Finally the Supreme Court intervened, decreed the basing-point system illegal. The cement and other industries could not absorb freight rates in order to fix a standard price in all parts of the country, the Supreme Court ruled.

* * *

Respected Joe O'Mahoney.

AT THIS point, two former champions of little business appeared to reverse themselves.

Champion No. 1—One of the most respected members of the U. S. Senate is sandy-haired, blue-eyed Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. Beginning as secretary to the late Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, Joe got to know government backward and forward, usually fights for the little fellow—except when it comes to wool. And on wool Joe does a A-1 job for the big sheepmen of his state.

Back in the New Deal days, O'Mahoney was the trust-busting chairman of the temporary national economic committee which had this to say:

"Extensive hearings on basing-point systems showed that they are used in many industries as an effective device for eliminating price competition. . . . we therefore recommend that the Congress enact legislation declaring such price systems to be illegal."

This was in 1941. Seven years later the U. S. Supreme Court caught up with Joe O'Mahoney and followed his advice. Whereupon, in 1949, Joe turned around and introduced a bill which partly nullified the Supreme Court.

Senator O'Mahoney explained that his bill was only clarifying the law. Admittedly the law needed clarifying. For, under the new Superme Court ruling, a cement company in Birmingham, Ala., could not absorb freight rates to compete in such a nearby market as New Orleans.

But tucked away in O'Mahoney's bill were these little noticed, but highly significant words: that it should be legal "to absorb freight to meet the equally low price of a competitor in good faith."

Note —Joe's Senate colleagues say he has been under terrific pressure from the sugar beet interests back home to leaglize the basing-point system, with the Wyco Trona Development Co., of Green River, Wyo., especially on his neck.

* * *

Congressman's Law Firm.

Old champion No. 2—Another former champion of little business has been Rep. "Manny" Celler, vigorous New York Democrat, now head of the potent House judiciary committee, which processed the new O'Mahoney basing-point bill on the House side of Congress.

Celler is also a member of the Manhattan law firm of Weisman, Celler, Quinn, Allan and Spett. This firm handles accident cases for the giant A and P chain grocery stores.

A and P is one of the chains hit be the Supreme Court decision. In fact, A and P was specifically mentioned in the Morton salt case, where it was shown that A and P was actually able to sell salt retail for less than the neighborhood grocers could buy it wholesale. Thus the independent grocer didn't have a chance of competing.

Whatever Manny Celler's motives, he acted strangely out of character in regard to the basing-point bill.

New champions — Realizing what the O'Mahoney basing-point bill meant to little business, Kefauver in the Senate and Carroll in the House tacked on amendments aimed to prevent further price-fixing.

But this got no support from Rep. Celler. To the New York Journal of Commerce he warned that he hoped to change the wording of the Carroll amendment when the bill came before him in judiciary conference.

Hawaii In Manhattan

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — Millions of New Yorkers who haven't got the moola for a vacation in Honolulu, who would look silly in a grass skirt and can't ride a surf board anyway, are having themselves a very fine vacation in Hawaii this summer without moving off the island of Manhattan.

A brilliant slice of the islands has been set down in the middle of New York for free, for the enjoyment of us cliff dwellers and the hundreds of thousands of tourists who make this city the nation's biggest hot weather resort.

The bit of Hawaii will be anchored in Rockefeller Center during the rest of July and all of August, thanks to the Rockefellers, pere et fils, to the 60 women who comprise the Garden club of Honolulu to the Hawaiian Vistors' Bureau, and to three American airlines.

This combination has turned the Channel gardens of Rockefeller Center, which open on Fifth avenue, into a Hawaiian setting complete from black lava sand to leis made of 750 orchids.

It is one of the most enchanting horticultural displays to which we assorted city slickers have ever been exposed. It runs the gamut from shocking pink pineapples to a weird and wonderful floral what - not called "Helaconia" that looks like a dozen or so luscious, life - size lobster claws growing along a central stalk.

Eight to ten times a year, the Rockefellers pin a corsage on New York when they plant seasonal blossoms in the Channel gardens, with their slow cascade of water flowing from six central fountains.

* * *

Costly and Difficult.

IT COSTS the Rockefellers between fifty and sixty thousands fast bucks annually to pin 6000 tulips on the city in the early spring, to switch to 10,000 Easter lilies at Easter time, to the iris and dog wood in May, the roses in June, the masses of chrysanthemums in the autumns and the evergreens of winter, climaxed by the great Christmas tree that lights up mid - Manhattan during the holidays.

But the present Hawaiian display isn't costing anyone a red cent, save the moil and toil of the 60 Honolulu women who twice, a week strip their gardens of their barest blossoms and pack them for shipment by air to New York.

Because of the federal quarantine on plants entering the United States from abroad, the women must fumigate the display and sterilize the soil, under federal inspection, before the lush, exotic vegetation can be shipped here.

The Honolulu Garden club, which began preparations for this display last January by building 20 portable greenhouses in which the flora was to be shipped aboard the Matson liner "Hawaiian Retailer" had to scrap all these plans once the dock strike paralyzed Hawaiian shipping.

It was at this point that the project was saved by three American airlines, United, Northwestern and Pan - American, stepping forward and offering to fly the display here without cost.

Ten tons of background material alone made up the first shipments. Now, two plane loads of fresh plants and blossoms arrive weekly to replace those Hawaiian plants that can stand tropic heat but not the city heat reflected from the pavements of New York.

As Cerf Tells It

Louis Kronenberger once visited the home of a brand - new millionaire. The furnishings were ornate; the only thing missing was pictures on the walls. "I suppose," hazarded Kronenberger, "you're going to acquire some old masters?" "I should say not," replied the hostess. "If we've got to spend all that money for pictures, we're going to get ourselves painted."

Listen World

So You're Sensitive

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU think you're sensitive? Yes, I know. I went through that notion too. I too firmly believed that I had a special brand of emotion and I too was an outstanding nuisance to my family and friends.

For, after all, our notions about ourselves are based on our own conceit and fear. We like to feel we're different because most of us are not brave enough to face the fact that we share all human weakness. And so we promote the idea that we're different and apart. . .and say that we have a special, deluxe reaction to life.

As a matter of fact, we have nothing of the sort.

Everyone, according to his own nature, is sensitive. Those whom we consider insensitive — the slum dwellers, the street walkers, the dumb clucks amongst our school mates and neighbors, even the more stupid or boring members of our own family circle—are sensitive according to their own natures.

No one likes to be belittled, or insulted. . .or ridiculed. The first law which every writer must learn, if he would be successful, is "never to ridicule." No columnist, with his millions of readers, can ever last if he laughs at or cheapens his readers. Sooner or later they will throw him out of their lives as they would throw out any other obnoxious element.

Remember these things as you go around your home. Remember them as you work in your office.

Don't ever underestimate the woman in the next apartment or bully the fellow at the next desk or turn up your nose at the nurse you pass in the corridor or the gabby guy who busts into your work shop. They too are thin-skinned. And they will take it out of your hide if you make them feel black and blue.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"It cost three million dollars to make surely you can afford to spend fifty cents to see it!"

Dave Boone Says:

SHIRLEY MAY FRANCE, a Somerset, Mass., girl swam from the Battery in New York to Coney Island the other day in preparation for an attempt to swim the English Channel. This is the first sign in years that the world will ever get back to normal.

* * *

When you think of the days when all you had to confuse, worry and excite you was whether somebody would swim a channel, it makes you realize how things have changed.

* * *

It sort of surprises me that anybody can swim a channel today with a protest from Russia, a special meeting of the United Nations security council, a Big Four huddle, and an economic crisis.

About Women

MISS NELLIE FAY HONORED WITH BRIDAL SHOWER

Bride-elect of Richard Frye of Crestline Given Party Thursday Evening By Two Hostesses.

MISS NELLIE FAY, bride-elect of Richard Frye of Crestline, was feted last evening at a lovely bridal shower given by Mrs. George Ingram and Mrs. Betty Speas at 460 Lexington avenue. Eighteen guests were in attendance and surprised the honoree with a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

Contests were the diversion of the evening with prizes awarded to Mrs. Sam Laughlin, Mrs. B. E. Beagle, and Miss Jackie Pilot, who presented them to the bride-to-be.

At a late hour refreshments were served buffet style with yellow and green used for appointments. Miss Ada Antrican poured. The centerpiece for the table was composed of a sprinkling can and kitchen gadgets which were given to Miss Fay.

Miss Fay and Mr. Frye will be wed Saturday, July 23 at 9:30 a. m. at St. Peter's Catholic church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fay, 593 Maple street, and Mr. Frye is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Frye of Crestline.

Mrs. Frye was in attendance for the shower. Mrs. Edward Thomas, Cook road, will be hostess Saturday evening for a party for Miss Fay, and on Monday evening Mrs. William Huck, Raleigh avenue, will entertain for her pleasure.

Summer Party Held Thursday At Clubhouse

Members of the Mansfield Federation of Women held a summer luncheon-bridge party at the Women's Club Thursday afternoon with 18 tables in play. Lovely bouquets of summer flowers decorated the drawing room. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. George Faust, Mrs. Merton Holcombe, Mrs. Charles Ripper and Mrs. Mae Karrer.

Luncheon was served at small tables after which the diversion was in play. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Charles Benedict, Mrs. Dane Lloyd, Mrs. G. H. Anson and Mrs. J. H. Balliet.

Announcement was made that another luncheon-bridge will be held Sept. 22 at 1 p. m. at the clubhouse. Hostesses will be named at a later date.

Galion Groups Hold Picnics

GALION — Another week of mid-summer picnics is well under way. The Junior Child Conservation League family outing was well attended Tuesday evening at the shelter house in Heise Park.

On Monday evening the J. D. Club enjoyed a picnic supper at Heise Park with the social hour following at the home of Mrs. J. L. Curren, Erie street. Prize winners were Mrs. Willard Schnegelsberger, Mrs. Harold Brown, Mrs. W. G. Roesch and Ida Eberhart.

Sandra and Kurtz Robinson were hosts to the Junior Garden Club at their home on South Market street Monday evening. A weiner roast and picnic was followed by group games.

Plans for a late July picnic were made when the Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars met Monday evening in the Armory. During the brief business session Mary Gelvin gave the reports of the Cleveland convention. The door prize was won by Anna Ryan and the mystery prize by Mabel Snyder.

Meeting in the parlors of the church, Monday afternoon, the Ladies Missionary society of the First Refromed church laid their plans for an August picnic.

Mrs. Homer Rensch presided for the meeting with Mrs. R. R. Elliker, Bernard Mains, Mrs. Forrest Hahn and Mrs. Chester Zimmerman participating in the program.

Election of officers will be held at the August picnic of the Garden Club according to the group spokesman following their meeting Monday evening in the public library.

Style Show And Benefit Planned

The Membership committee, Women of the Moose, met Wednesday at the home of Miss Betty Jona, 322 North Townview circle, with seven members and two guests, Mrs. Cloyd Wyckoff, senior regent, and Mrs. D. F. Goodner, in attendance.

Miss Jona, chairman, conducted the business meeting. She appointed two new officers, Mrs. Michael Campanelli, recorder, and Miss Betty Pearl, treasurer.

Arrangements were made for a style show and benefit bridge to be held in November. The club prize was won by Miss Ruth Sidel. Contest winners were Mrs. G. W. Shields and Mrs. Goodner.

The next meeting will be a weiner roast August 24 at Olivesburg roadside park. The group will meet at the Moose clubrooms for transportation. The hostesses will be Miss Betty Jona and Mrs. Alex Jona.

Esther Class Entertained

Mrs. Mary Seymour, Sunset boulevard, was hostess to twenty-one members of the Esther class of the Mayflower Congregational church Wednesday evening. Mrs. L. H. Edwards served as the associate hostess.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Harry Adams. The president, Mrs. Albert Frank, conducted the business session. Games and contests were the diversionof the evening with prizes going to Mrs. C. R. Ladd and Miss Grace Finical. At the close of the meeting a luncheon was served with birthday appointments in honor of Mrs. C. A. Cole.

The next session will be August 10 at the home of Mrs. Carl Stough, Grant street. Assisting her with the picnic arrangements will be Mrs. F. R. Barrett.

Service Guild Has Picnic

The Christian Service Guild of the First Evangelical United Brethren church met at the home of Mrs. Fuller Dunson, Belmont avenue, for a picnic supper. Thirteen members and four guests, Miss Anne Mathias, Mrs. Ruby Montague, Mrs. Marie Kircher and Mrs. John Sikola were present.

Devotions were led by Miss Naomi Johnson, whose topic was "Christian Social Relations", and an article on "What If There Were No Jews" was given by Miss Johnson.

During the business meeting it was voted to have a book review for stewardship study class in the fall. Mrs. Edward Jackson was welcomed as a new member.

Tipping Tips To Know

For the summer vacationer, a good arrangement to follow on tipping is the "ten to fifteen per cent rule."

For taxi drivers, for waiters who serve you single meals, and on almost any occasion on which you are presented with a moderate bill for goods and services, a tip of about fifteen per cent of the total tariff (or a very little less) will see you through.

When you're on vacation, you must acknowledge tippees (at the terminal, at the train, in and around the hotel,) who do not present you with bills. A t the railroad, bus, or air terminal, tip porters at the flat rate of ten to fifteen cent a bag. If you are on an extended journey, the Pullman porter receives twenty-five cents a night. For an overnight excursion, figure fifty cents as the minimum gratuity. In both cases, however, if the porter does extra added good deeds for you, tip him proportionately more.

Remember, if you insist on traveling like a plutocrat, in a drawing room or roomette, you must expect to tip like one. Tip the porter a dollar a night, at least, in this case.

Above all, never be intimidated by false notions of propriety into tipping for services which are forced upon you against your will.

If, however, the service has been particularly good, and if your holiday has left you with a strong urge to magnamity, it is never in bade taste to tip somewhat more than the accustomed rate.

You can remove most lipstick stains from washables if you work glycerine into the spot and launder the article in warm soapsuds.

Types of Stain Remover and How To Use Them Correctly

A reader writes that while she has become rather adept at removing stains from household linens and her youngster's clothes, she is still rather confused by the names and functions of the stain removers and would like some information about them.

For others who may be interested, let's start off by dividing stain removers into three general categories: There are solvents, there are bleaches and there are absorbents. The bleaches are common household use include hydrogen peroxide, acetic acid, lemon juice and salt.

USING BLEACH

Before using a bleach on colored or fine fabrics, test the result on a small, inconspicuous piece of the fabric. If the bleach changes its color use a very weak solution. To use a chemical bleach such as peroxide, stretch the stained material over a bowl of steaming hot water. Moisten stained area with water. Drop chemical on the stain with a medicine dropped. Let stand a minute. Then rinse thoroughly by pouring water through the fabric. Do not allow any bleach to remain in the fabric. If fabric is washable, wash and rinse thoroughoy after stain is removed.

When an acid such as oxalic acid is used, appiy an alkali such as ammonia water or borax solution to neutralize the acid and prevent damage to fabric.

Absorbents are substances that take up stains, like blotters, and they are most effective when used on greasy or moist fresh stains. To use an absorbent, such as French chalk or talcum is easy but requires care. Lay the fabric on a flat surface and spread the powder into stain with a spatula or with the fingers, brushing it off as it becomes colored. Repeat process until stain is removed.

DISSOLVE SUBSTANCES

The third category is made up of solvents. Water, carbon tetrachloride benzene or alcohol are solvents, that is, they dissolve other substances. To sponge with a solvent, lay the fabric spot-side-down on a clean blotter, or a pad made of folds of clean absorbent cloth. Then apply the solvent with a cloth, using light strokes and working from the outside to the center of the spot. To avoid rings do not apply too much solvent at a time, and spread moisture unevenly at the edges. Work rapidly. Change pad as soon as it becomes soiled. If the material is dark, wet an inconspicuous part, such as a hem of a dress, and use it to sponge the spot. Water spots may be removed by rubbing fabric between hands when dry.

Boiling water is used for removing fruit, coffee, or tea stains from white cottons or linens. Stretch fabric over bowl and pour water from a height of 2 to 3 feet.

Dye That Slip For Your Sheers

This summer milady will go gowned in filmy, transparent sheers. She'll breeze through the hot, sticky days in one cool dress after another. Luck is sure with her cause there a galaxy of wonderfully cool fabrics to be had this season. The three-starred feature is rayon chiffon, but nylon, organdy, dotted Swiss, bemberg and voile are all popular. The return of sheers is making that old underdog, the common slip, sit up and take notice. It must be ever so pretty and fresh 'cause there's no telling when it will be seen.

One of the cleverest ideas going 'round is the dye 'em and match 'em trick. You take your canary yellow or Hunter green dotted Swiss and dye a slip to match it. The dyed slip deepens the sheer color and gives the dress a more completed costume effect. This certainly is a happy thought for those transparent nylon blouses nearly everybody is wearing.

A perfect slip under sheer materials is rayon taffeta, for it has body and offsets the tendency of sheers to cling. Of course, now you can buy nylon slips that need no ironing. All you do after a sweltering day's wear is dip them up and down in sudsy water, rinse hang them to dry and they're ready to wear next morning. Both fabrics will dye easily — but be sure to use an all purpose dye that works on every fabric — even synthetics. Follow the directions accurately — and remember that dyeing is preferable to tinting for you'll be washing that slip frequently. Remember, too, that colors appear darker when wet.

Mural Magic For Your Walls

ENCHANTED LIVING ROOM—King-size wallpaper scenic gives illusion of great picture window overlooking placid mountain lake. Enlargements are achieved by new process which produces 6 feet 6 inches by 15 feet black-and-white or sepia toned murals. A California firm produces them for less than $30.

By JACK QUIGG
Associated Press Newsfeatures

LOS ANGELES—If you would like to change a wall in your home into a picturesque seascape or a view of a placid mountain lake, now is your chance. A new process by which ordinary scenic photos are reproduced—king size—on wallpaper permits you to gaze at your favorite scenic spot to your heart's content.

A California firm recently began producing such enlargements by a special printing process. In place on a wall, each mural measures 6 feet 6 inches by 15 feet. Its six 40 by 60 inch component panels are applied with paste like any wallpaper. By using only the center panels, the size of the picture may be reduced to fit almost any wall.

The murals, which are washable, are manufactured in black and white or sepia tones. Treated so as to appear three dimensional, they have the same effect as an added window—pushing the walls back and enlarging the room.

Thus far, the manufacturers have made plates for three murals, a Carmel, Calif., seascape and shots of Reflection Lake in Mt. Lassen National Park and Jackson Lake in the Grand Tetons.

They plan eventually to have a library of several hundred prints.

Peter C. Goldsmith, a Los Angeles advertising man, began research on printing processes a year ago. He settled on a method by which a standard four by five inch photographic negative is enlarged to 120 square feet. His first step is to make a 20 by 30 inch print. This is retouched, photographed, and reproduced on a 40 by 60 inch printing plate. Six of these make a complete mural.

Battle of the Neckline Goes On In the New Fall Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
(AP Features Writer)

NEW YORK —(AP)— The battle of the neckline goes on apace in fall fashions currently being previewed for the nation's press.

Designers vie for the most daring decolletage, and one of the newest and most startling is known variously as "fan neckline," crumb catcher, balcony and shelf. It consists of a bodice flaring upward and outward from the waist, with no apparent means of support. It is calculated to arouse the opposite sex, who are doomed to the disappointment of finding that a bra arrangement behind the "fan" makes it all modest, after all.

Jo Copeland, known for her sophisticated after-five costumes, employs the crumb-catcher silhouette to distinct advantage on a striped green surah cocktail dress guaranteed to break the ice at any gathering.

This designer also shows a sleek collection of slim city suits, with dressmaker touches such as velvet trim, braid binding, rows of small pearl buttons and such. Skirts are slim and jackets generally longer. Miss Copeland likes contrasting apron panels on dark afternoon gowns, goes in for elaborate side drapes on her more formal designs.

Ben Reig concentrates on sleeve interest for fall, introducing the "mercury wing" silhouette, which is a flaring lapel arrangement stitched into the sleeve seam. He shows also the mousquetaire sleeve, which is buttoned from wrist to elbow and suggests the long mousquetaire glove.

The "gyro skirt" is another Reig innovation of the season, with panels applied at side front and side back to suggest that it would be dandy fun to whirl.

His "tailspin skirt" is slim and straight in front, develops a flirtatious flare at center back.

Reig goes in for sumptuous fabrics for fall, showing upholstery-weight satin damasks and brocades, chenille - embroidered net, silk velvet and chiffon to intrigue customers in the upper income brackets.

Hobby Club To Give Cash Gifts

The Buckeye Hobby Club met for a covered dish dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wappner, South Main street road, with 41 members and five guests present. Guests were Miss Linda Sue Hill, Miss Helen Earhart, Mrs. Burch Smith of Shelby, C. M. Briggs, and Burch Smith.

Miss Hill and Miss Earhart favored with several accordian selections.

The group was seated at a long table in the yard. Bouquets of red roses centered the board. Hosts for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Wappner and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Netting. Mrs. Charles Benedict presided for the business session.

Plans were made to present the YMCA with $150. and Boys Village with $50., from the proceeds of the antique show held here in June. The next meeting will be a picnic at the Bert Owens home, near Lexington. The date will be announced la-

Voice of Broadway

To those many thousands-maybe millions-of out-of-towners who firmly believe that the Stork Club and its owner Sherman Billingsley constitute the essence of glamor, I should like to report that it is all true. I now believe it myself.

I became a convert at two o'clock the other morning when I observed Mr. Billingsley quitting his famous saloon and getting into his car. That is what happened.

He strolled out the front door, saying goodnight to the bowing help, walked briskly across the sidewalk because it was hot out and the air on 53rd st. has not yet been air-conditioned, and climed into his car.

He got in derrierre-first, because there was a bed in the car, and he proceeded to lie on the bed, wriggle comfortably under the coverings, and say, "Home, James."

The bed was twin size, made up with fine percale sheets and a plump pillow. The car had all its windows rolled up, because it was air-conditioned to a pleasant chilliness

* * *

On the outside the car looks like any black sedan, but Mr. Billingsley admitted upon questioning that when he is on his supine way to his home in Bedford Village, he sometimes wakens from his peaceful doze to see passengers in a bus pulled alongside peering from their windows into his with "Hey, looka-that, will ya!" expressions, and cops at toll gates give the body in the sedan an odd look.

He just looks back at them, sometimes grinning. On the first few rides he was self-conscious, felt a little silly to be riding along on the flat of his back in full view of the traffic. But not any more. Now he feels a certain superiority to the poor slobs who are sitting up straight in their jalopys, and the closed windows and the gentle hum of the air-conditioning shut out all but the loudest comments.

Anyway, it is the most glamorous procedure I have seen since I once watched J. P. Morgan boarding his yacht.

In my opinion, Mr. Billingsley knows how to live.

* * *

I don't believe I will ever get used to the fact that Laraine Day has evolved into a rabid baseball fan, because of - or possibly in spite of, who knows? -her marriage to the Giant's mental and vocal giant, Leo Durocher.

Laraine is a poised, cool-looking beauty, and she somehow gives the impression of being an imperturbable lady who would never allow an uncouth phrase like 'Kill dat umpire!" to pass her lips.

Oh, well, I suppose appearances are deceiving. But one of these days I plan to succumb to my unbridled curiosity, sneak into the Polo Grounds like Mata Hari on the loose, and take up a position within eye and earshot of the lovely Mrs. Leo. I won't believe she's a genuine Giant fan until I hear it with my own skeptical ears.

* * *

I can't understand the dogmatic Hollywood assumption that nine out of 10 movies intended for Summer release must be of the light, frothy and non thought-provoking type.

The necessity for warm weather dispersal of one puff of cinematic fluff after another may have existed in the days before movie houses were air-conditioned, when audiences didn't want to squirm their way through heavy drama on the screen. But now that freon is king and movie theatres are as cool as, if not cooler than, popsicles in Iceland, the taboo doesn't make sense.

I love the movies, and I attend just as many during the Summer as I do during the Winter - maybe more. But frankly, a girl gets awfully sick of a steady diet of cotton candy. Summer or no Summer, she has an occasional craving for a nice, juicy junk of celluloid steak.

Leftover potatoes are usually eaten with relish if they are sliced, spread with butter or margarine and broiled until lightly browned on both sides. They may be dusted with paprika, if you like, before they are sent to the table.

Horoscope

For Saturday, July 16
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

With rather adverse astral conditions uppermost, it might be as well to refrain from any important creative or ambitious efforts, since the mentality may be obscure, involved or complicated by queer notions or erratic drives emotionally. At the same time there is prospect of a sudden, unpredictable and upheaving force, which could prove catastrophic in consideration of the irresponsible state of mind and feelings. Seek diversion or creative work in safer contacts.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may be prepared for some sort of sudden upheaval, far-reaching and radical in its surprising denouements. Under this strange urge for change, removal or romantic adventure, the state of mind may not be deemed as regiable or responsible, its confuse or jumbled aspect having power to further complicate or involve in unwelcome and unprofitable situations. Postpone major decisions until such strange urge passes away.

A child born on this day may have strong urge toward the singular, unorthodox or erratic, with its feelings, emotions and imagination likely to plunge it into irregular or unconventional complications.

Class Meeting Held At Lindbecks

The regular monthly meeting of the Love and Friendship class of the Mayflower Congregational church was held at the Lindbeck home, Buckingham street. Mrs. Arthur Lindbeck, Misses Helen and Ruth Lindbeck were the associate hostesses. Fifteen were in attendance.

Contests were the diversion of the evening with prizes going to Mrs. John Gorman and Miss Ruth Aderman. Lunch was was served from small candlelit tables. The serving table was decorated with candles and summer garden flowers.

Mrs. Joan Ross will be hostess at the August meeting. The affair will be held at her home on Longview avenue.

Use Care For Personal Wardrobe

ONE of the best ways to keep the budget under control is to take good care of one's personal wardrobe. And apart from this consideration so important to many of us, no matter how costly the get-up, it won't look right unless every item is beautifully cared-for and in proper condition.

Stockings should be washed after each wearing, and dried away from radiator or hot stove. Roll them carefully and store in a proper hose box.

Keep shoes clean and polished, using saddle soap to do right by leather shoes. If your shoes have become wet, dry them slowly, away from excess heat. When donning shoes, use a shoe-horn to keep the backs of the shoe from being damaged or broken. Use shoe-trees or wadded tissue paper to stuff shoes and store carefully in shoe bags or on racks, not just higgledy - piggledy on the closet floor.

Don't let gloves, leather or fabric, get too dirty and don't put them away, with a promise to wash them later. Dirt works its way into the cotton or leather and makes it that much harder to get the glove clean. When donning leather gloves, don't jerk them on. Put fingers in first, pushing the glove into place Then put in your thumb and gently pull on your glove. Powder in a leather glove helps preserve leather.

Watch your hats and see that they are in good condition, ready with attention to the headband. Give felts an occassional good tea-kettle steaming.

New Colors and Fabrics Shown In Furniture "Fashions"

The stores report that a really good and comprehensive room display draws as big a throng as does any fashion show, with women exclaiming and taking notes and then making their way to the various furniture, rug, upholstery or accessories departments. Which is as it should be. For with more money spread around among a greater number of our people, women have become more conscious of the home and are able to do more-for it So let's be off to look at some of the furniture fashions and see what we can use.

The pieces are available in ash and three new colors that go nicely with modern decorations: Pacific rose, peacock green and a sort of sandy lime beige shade that is hard to describe but that is very attractive These shades cue the colors of the accessories, plus a new one which is called pumpkin and which describes it as well as anything.

The upholstery is interesting Loveseats are covered with peacock colored cotton with a white rooster design a nice choice for the graceful yet sturdy furniture, which is of oak despite all the fancy finishes. The sofas are separated by a triangular corner table, a two-step affair with a tall lamp on the top shelf. In front, between the two pieces is a good sized square table.

Keyed to today's living is a television ottoman, made with round seat, upholstered in red cotton and set on low, modern legs. Under this, matching wedge-shaped benches slip for additional seating space.

There is a low, functional type bookcase with adjustable sheives This is made to go on top of the record cabinet, if so desired. Then there is a nice little secretary desk, with neat brass hardware, that folds up so that it looks like a wall cabinet.

A Roll-Up Sun Mat Can Be Easily Made At Home

You don't have to live near the beach to have a lovely golden tan your friends will envy! You can acquire one in lazy luxury in your own back yard or terrace if you have a comfortable beach roll to stretch out on.

Here are simple directions, from the Woman's Home Companion, for making a roll-up sun mat. This is what you need: one long strip of plain denim and one of striped, 2 and one third yards long; an extra yard for boxing strips to go down the sides; 6 rolls of quilt wadding for stuffing; 2 ½ yards of cotton tape for braided ties.

This is what you do. Get everything together before starting. The trick is to put two long pieces together with boxing strips on side, wadding stitched in.

You do this by cutting enough 3 inch wide boxing strips to piece together 2 side strips 2 and one third yards long; pin together, baste sides of fabric with these strips, wrong sides out.

Stitch seams on machine, wrong sides out, leaving 12 inches open at middle of one long side to use as stuffing vent; then seam two open ends of the sun mat. Turn work right side out, seam again ¼ inch in from edge to make boxed seam. Fold wadding into 6 pads the width of beach roll and 12 inches the other way; flatten and stuff first one through opening vent.

Push bat firmly to one end, anchor with pins, stitch across roll. Continue to set in place, one by one, stitching each bat. Work alternately towards ends, then set last bat in middle at vent and sew up opening.

For ease in carrying, braid three 2½ inch strips of strong cotton tape and sew to beach roll 8 inches from one end. Then roll up mattress and tie braided tape around it.

Congress To Get Armed Unity Plan

Truman Drafts New Proposal

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Rep. Vinson D) Ga., said yesterday that President Truman will send his armed forces reorganization plan to Congress Monday.

The chairman of the House Armed Services committee made his announcement to newsmen after the committee refused to reverse its position and consider now the Senate-approved military unification bill.

He said that the President's reorganization plan, with one exception, accomplishes the aims of the Senate unification bill, which was designed to give Defense Secretary Johnson greater authority over the armed services to promote efficiency and economy.

Vinson did not give any details about the President's reorganization plan, but said that the executive order already had been prepared and he had read it during a visit to the White House earlier this week.

Vinson was called to the White House to confer with the President after the committee voted 13 - 12 last Tuesday to defer action on the bill until it completes its probe of alleged irregularities in B-36 bomber procurement. This apparently killed the bill for this session of Congress.

Mr. Truman told Vinson that unless the committee acts on the bill, he would avail himself of the authority under the reorganization law and issue an executive order revising the national military establishment.

Vinson made the disclosure after the committee voted 23 - 5 to take up as a separate bill that portion of the Senate unification measure which unified the armed services' fiscal policies.

This action came after an attempt by Vinson to obtain unanimous consent to reverse last Tuesday's vote was blocked by Rep. Herbert D) La.

The bill unifying the armed services fiscal policies was sponsored by Rep. Short of Missouri, top - ranking Republican on the committee, who made the motion last Tuesday to postpone further consideration of the Senate unification bill.

Encounters Fiancee By Chance On Train Headed for Mansfield

Few people have more cause to exclaim, "It's a small world," than Harlan Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Taylor sr., R. D. 6 and his German fiance, Miss Gertrude Cieslak.

Taylor and his bride-to-be left Germany at different times both bound for Mansfield, and through some coincidence they encountered each other aboard the same train in Philadelphia.

Taylor, who was serving with the army in Germany, left two days earlier than Miss Cieslak and spent the two days in New York getting his discharge papers. When he boarded the train for Mansfield in Philadelphia he refused to believe for a moment that the girl he saw on the train was really his fiancee.

Miss Cieslak, who is twenty years old, was born in Wielkie Hajduki, Poland. She was forced from her home in 1942 and put to work in a labor camp in Gablinger, Germany In 1948 she was in a D. P. camp when she met Taylor.

They arrived together in Mansfield on June 25 and expect to be married in the near future. In the meantime, Miss Cieslak is living on the Taylor farm and learning how to be an American housewife.

MOTORIST FINED

Ollie F. Conley, 26, Mansfield, R. D. 1, was fined $5 and costs in Judge H. H. Schettler's municipal court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to disregarding a traffic signal.

Legislator Flunks 'Test' In Elevator

COLUMBUS — (UP) — State Rep. Philip M. Collins is convinced that there are more tricks to running an elevator than to being a lawmaker.

Collins learned about the elevator trade when he switched jobs with the regular operator at the state house.

It began when Larry Millsap, 23, an Ohio State University law school student, told Collins he would like to see how the house operates.

"Nothing to it," Collins said. "I'll take your job, you take mine for a while."

So the two traded tasks.

Millsap walked into the house, settled down in Collins' chair and listened while legislators hashed over the pros and cons of a bill.

Collins, however, ran into trouble.

"I caught a couple of people in the doors of the elevator," he said "And then I could never get it straight what floor they called out. I was in the soup all the time."

Scott Ouster Forces Seek GOP Unity

Top Party Men Desire Change

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Top party men today were putting harmony brakes on the effort to kick Hugh S. Scott jr., out of the Republican National committee chairmanship.

There is general agreement that Scott must go. But the movement to toss him out on his ear is encountering as much opposition as support.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, are understood to be agreed that party harmony comes first. They want Scott to remain on the job until a generally satisfactory successor can be found. Dewey has been in Scott's corner all along.

With these developments it appeared an effort might be made to put in the chairmanship John A. Danaher, a former United States senator now practising law in Hartford, Conn., and Washington, D. C. Danaher is rated among the ablest Republicans. Another argument likely to be offered in his behalf is that he has not sought and probably does not want the job. His backes doubt if he would take it.

Many Republicans are disturbed by the public brawling which has centered around Scott since the GOP was knocked through the ropes in last November's presidential election. The Democrats like it.

President Truman told his news conference yesterday the less harmony there is in the Republican party, the better it suits him.

Scott's opponents are represented as having enough votes to oust him if a National committee meeting could be had. They also are reported to have drawn a petition for an early meeting at which they would seek a showdown.

TO HEAD THE MET—Rudolf Bing, Vienna-born manager of the 1949 Edinburgh music festival, will become general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, New York.

Galion Hires 4 Teachers

GALION — The Galion board of education approved the appointment of four new faculty members during last night's meeting in the senior high school building.

Ann Kopcial, veteran of 17 years teaching experience in Richland county schools, will fill an elementary teacher position. The newly formed position of elementary art instructor will be filed by Thelma Ray, Clyde.

Junior high school industrial arts will be taught by Bruce Morehead, Bremen. Leah Vail, Fredericktown, will instruct junior high home economics. Miss Vail has taught at Edison for the past two years.

Galion Reports Big Wheat Days

GALION — Tuesday and Wednesday of this week were the biggest wheat days in the history of the local Galion Equity Exchange with 17,500 bushels in 200 loads pouring in from surrounding farm areas.

Test weight is down from 58 to 59 highs of last week to 53 to 57 this week. Moisture content is 13 to 14.

Prices paid were $1.79 per bushel on Tuesday. $1.75 on Wednesday and $1.73 Thursday.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION

CRESTLINE — Harry White, president of the Kiwanis club here and its delegate to the national convention in Atlantic City, gave a report on the affair at this week's luncheon meeting in the YMCA.

In Utica, N. Y., F. W. Woolworth opened his first five-and-ten-cent store in 1879. It failed.

Highway Division 3 Abolishes Tire Post

ASHLAND — Abolition of the job of division tire inspector and lay-off of a shop foreman at Division 3 headquarters of the State Highway department was announced by Division Engineer Joseph A. Tomsic.

Duplication and lack of need for the jobs were given as the reason for the abolition and lay-off. The tire inspector job was created during wartime and is no longer necessary, Tomsic stated.

Ontario Clubbers Visit Sullivan Cattle Farms

ONTARIO — Herman Matthes and five Ontario 4-H club members visited cattle farms near Sullivan Wednesday. The group toured the Hitchcock Brown Swiss, Heifner Guernsey, Glooz Holstein and Bates Jersey farms.

Members making the tour were Bernard Palmer, Kenneth Bussell, Donald Danals and Quentin and Lloyd Matthes.

Sues Cab Firm, Studio For Use Of Photograph

ASHLAND — Charging an enlarged photo of herself was displayed on the back of cabs without her permission, Miss Lenore Young seeks $5,000 damages in a court action against Francis Seat studio, Robert Picking of the Ashland Taxi company and Harry Feist corporation of Fremont.

The plaintiff stated the defendants without her consent or knowledge displayed large photographs of her on the back of cabs operated by Picking's company.

TWIN CALVES ADMIRED

IBERIA—Twin heifer calves, Sue and Suzanne, are being admired by Morrow countians who visit the farm of Mrs. Elizabeth Burggraf, four miles south of here on the Iberia road. The calves were sired by a Hereford bull.

BRUSH COIFFURE — "Sunbeams" is the name of this new coiffure introduced by Victor Vito, New York stylist, who says it needs no setting but just a whisk of the brush.

Traffic has increased 41 per cent in Nebraska since 1937.

Four Teachers Appointed By Bucyrus School Head

BUCYRUS — City School Supt. D. C. Baer announced here today appointments of four new teachers have been approved by the school board.

Mrs. Ruth Clubb, a Heidelberg college graduate who formerly taught at Shelby high school, will teach girls' physical education and Miss Marjorie Muse, a Wooster college graduate, will teach Spanish, succeeding Mrs. Robert Gosnell, who has resigned.

Mrs. Ruth Davidson, a former teacher here who has been engaged in government work in Hawaii for the last several years, will teach in an elementary schools.

The fourth appointment is that of Richard Frantz of Findlay, as physical education director and assistant football coach. He is a graduate of the University of South Carolina.

School will resume here Tuesday, Sept. 6.

PLANS CRETE VISIT

1,641 Get Chest Test In Ashland

X-ray Mobile Units Are Touring County

ASHLAND — Ashland county's three-week chest X-ray service campaign already has resulted in free X-rays for 1,641 residents of the county by the two mobile units supplied by the Ohio health department.

The county health department is attempting to give X-rays to every resident of the county in an effort to stop tuberculosis here.

The bus unit from the health department is touring the county, making scheduled stops in every town while the portable unit is being stationed in industries for factory employes.

X-rays will be available for the general public after the factory schedule ends.

Response to the free X-ray service has been unexpectedly large at every place in the county where the units have been stationed.

The units also are offering free diabetic blood tests to all persons over 40 who volunteer for the tests.

The mass X-ray program is believed the first of its proportions ever conducted in the nation.

Wellington Lists Rodeo

A touch of the 'wild west' will enliven the outdoor activities of northern Ohioans Sunday when the WB Bar Ranch of Wellington puts on a rodeo at the Wellington fair grounds.

Trick riding and roping occupy a special spot on the program with a trophy going to the high point man for the day's events.

Events will get underway at noon and will consist of pony races, hoop races, keg roping, musical chairs, jumping, ladies' boot scramble, three - gaited western class, shovel race, and pony express race.

A large saddle club at Wellington has been promoting annual rodeos, but this is the largest undertaking for the club to date.

Bomb Hurled Into Paper

CHICAGO — (AP) — One pressman suffered minor burns and 23 other employes of the Chicago Defender, a Negro weekly newspaper, were driven from their jobs early today when a gas bomb was hurled into the pressroom.

Police detective Con Czernikowski said that the bomb was composed of a pint whisky bottle filled with a form of mustard gas. He said the bottle shattered against a beam and the fluid spattered on Melvin Granger, 23, a pressman. He suffered burns on the shoulders and arms and was taken to a hospital for treatment.

The missile was thrown as the pressmen had run off about one fourth of the paper's 65,000 copy city edition. Employes were driven to the street by the acrid fumes which filled the building.

BYERS HAS CHECK-UP

Calvin A. Byers, Bellville, News - Journal columnist and former English teacher at Senior high school entered People's hospital yesterday. Hospital attendants said Byers was in for a routine check-up.

ASHLAND — Free bus service to the services at Savannah churches is being provided through a newly purchased school bus by the Bethel chapel of Savannah.

The bus, seating 48 persons, will establish a regular route in the Savannah, Olivesburg and Ashland vicinities in the near future. Until the route is established those desiring transporation are to call 247 Savannah by Saturday noons.

Passengers will be called for to go to any Savannah church, the Bethel chapel sponsors stated today.

The apple is closely allied to the pear.

Claims Subcommittee Chairman Got $80,000 For Aiding Union

WASHINGTON — As I suspected when I read the publicity turned out at public expense for a lawyer from Indianapolis specializing in fat union law-suits, the hearings of the subcommittee on labor of the House of Representatives were a ballyhoo for the rackets themselves and for this fellow's law practice.

Andrew Jacobs, the freshman chairman of the subcommittee, got $80,000 from one local of the Carpenters' Union in Baltimore for recovering $244,000 from the international, or parent, union and it turns out that his line of work is lawing against the big, fat internationals with enormous treasuries and limitless powers of assessment in the role of consecrated friend of the rank and file.

Jacobs denied that he got the $80,000 in the case of Local 101, but Ralph M. Cline, the business agent, affirmed that the settlement was $244,000 and that Jacobs got one-third, which would have been $80,000-plus.

Jacobs said he got $65,000, which still would be proof of my contention that the union law racket is a sweet grift for a lot of police-court mane-shakers with a cultivated knowledge of the weak spots of international union constitutions and a desirous eye on their vaults but he may have had a mental reservation. He may have been speaking of net, not gross, and anyway, he wasn't on his oath and so could speak freely.

★

HE REFUSED to say what his total income had been for any year, but the same informant who told me correctly that he had picked up the $80,000 has told me further that Jacobs collected about $300,000 in about two years.

For many years I have been pounding away at the fact that the union racket is a racket for all but the working stiffs who pay the dues, assessments and lawyers' fees and, in particular, for lawyers specializing in this neglected field with its vast possibilities.

The big international unions all damn as parasites and provocateurs lawyers who sue them on behalf of the locals and occasional wan-faced rank-and-filers in ragged sweaters and dejected caps.

In fact, practically all of the internationals have firm laws forbidding their rank and file and locals, too, to take their grievances into the public courts until they have "exhausted all remedies" within the unions.

This process in certain cases would have taken from 10 to 31 years and easily could keep the wounded victims out of court and deny them justice forever. Old Dan Tobin, president of the Teamsters, once wrote one of his high-powered, low-comedy editorials condemning such litigants to a hell beneath the pit to which all scabs are known to be consigned by the same god who blesses goons on all their forays.

Mr. Jacobs made a forensic point of saying that when he was elected last fall he quit his law firm, but that is a mere statement not necessarily more truthful than some other bold but futile efforts at deception during my own day in court.

And even if it be true that he has withdrawn for a two-year spell, he plainly seems to me to be chumming up trade for the day when he retires from statesmanship and starts handing out his cards again. He is promoting bills which would add to the heap of union law confining labor and industry and create further golden fields for lawyers to harvest.

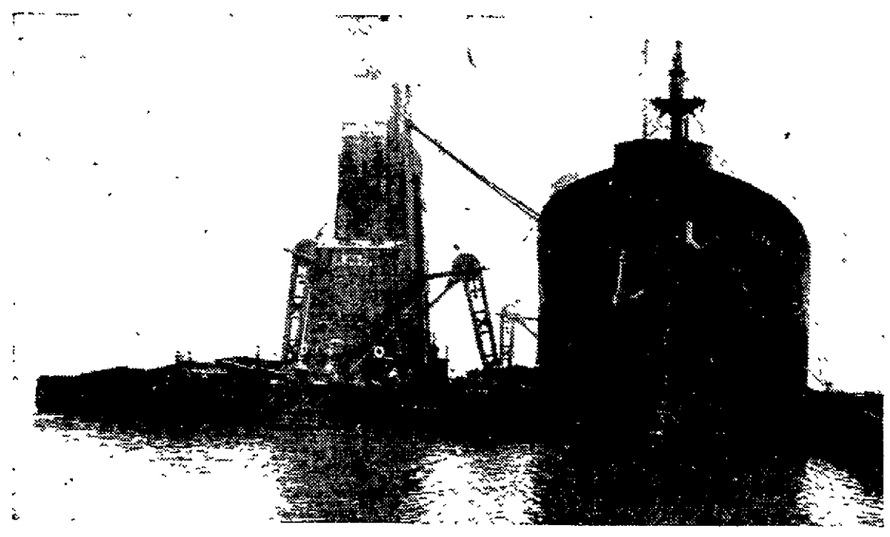
Crops Rot At Terminals

Farmers Faced With Too Abundant Grain Harvest



FLOATING GRANARY—With storage space at a premium and harvesting of a bumper crop of grain going ahead at full speed, the government has turned to ships as storage places. Above is shown a floating elevator pouring grain into the bowels of the Benjamin Hawkins at Jersey City, N. J. Heavily-laden barges await their turn.

INTO THE ELEVATOR—Workmen shovel grain into the floating elevator for transfer to one of the 12 ships of the Hudson river reserve fleet being used by the government to store a portion of the bumper 1949 crop. With production setting a near-record in the midwest, drought has caused millions of dollars worth of damage to New England crops.

CROPS ROT—With a bumper crop of fruits and vegetables rotting at the produce terminals in Chicago, housewives still find prices sky-high in the stores. Pictured are piles of potatoes and onions on a loading platform at a terminal filled to capacity with hundreds of carloads of watermelons, honey dews, bananas, onions and other commodities. But there is no break in retail prices.

GRAIN MARKET—Richland county farmers lined up at Lantz Mills yesterday as they brought their grain in from harvest. The farmers were held up in their harvesting operations because of rainy weather last week but the big push in is on now. Nine trucks were in this line, seven of them around the corner extending for almost a block down East Fifth street, yesterday afternoon.

Foreign Market Declines

Wants More Meat Animals

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A 1950 production program calling for less wheat but more meat animals and dairy products was laid before the nation's wheat farmers by the government today.

A declining market for wheat makes it advisable, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said, that farmers plant 14,000,000 fewer acres to wheat for 1950 harvest than the nearly 83,000,000 seeded for this year's crop.

The acres taken out of wheat should be put to grass and pasture for grazing of beef and dairy cattle, sheep and lambs, he said, because consumers need more of the latter products.

Under the 1950 program, each farmer will be given a share of a national wheat planting allotment of 68,000,000 acres. His share will be based upon his past production history. While the allotment is about 17 per cent below this year's acreage, the reduction for individual farmers will vary somewhat from this national average.

Areas which greatly expanded their acreages since the war will take a larger cut than others.

NOT COMPULSORY

Compliance with an allotment is not required by law. However, only those farmers who do comply will be eligible for direct price support aid on their 1950 wheat. The price support program is expected to assure complying farmers an average of about $1.85 a bushel.

Failure of farmers to comply, Brannan said, might well bring on a glutted wheat market, disastrous price breaks and an undue burden on the price support program.

Furthermore, he said, overplanting of the allotment might force the government to invoke rigid marketing quotas on the grain in later years. Quotas put a mandatory limit on the quantity a farmer can sell, except on payment of a penalty equal to about half the support rate.

But for a reduction in this year's wheat crop prospects during June due to unfavorable weather, quotas would have been proclaimed for the 1950 crop, the secretary said. Nevertheless, the 1949 crop is now indicated to be the third largest of record.

Brannan said farmers must not mislead themselves into thinking that they have an unlimited market for all the grain they can produce. Big post-war foreign markets, which were based upon shortages in devastated areas, are shrinking, he said.

Physician Found Dead

Galion Doctor Dies In Sleep

GALION—Dr. R. N. Malone, 55, physician and surgeon here for the past 25 years, was found dead in bed this morning by his widow, Icie, in their home at 503 Cherry street. Dr. M. L. Helfrich was summoned and he called Dr. O. R. Kackley, Crawford county coroner, who stated death was due to coronary thrombosis.

Dr. Helfrich was summoned at 9 a. m. and Dr. Kackley placed the time of death six or seven hours earlier. The body was taken to the Snyder funeral home here pending arrangements.

Surviving, in addition to the widow, are three children all living at home. They are Raymond, Robert and Judith Malone.

300 See Opening of Children's Theater

Approximately 300 Mansfielders were treated to an evening of "make believe magic" last night when the Children's Theater opened its 13th consecutive season with "Jack and the Beanstalk."

They saw the magic beans "grow" into a vine that reached into the clouds where a twinkie-toed fairy danced and where a little "hen" laid golden eggs.

The play will be repeated at 8 p. m. today at the South Park pavilion, summer home of the Children's Theater.

Although some of the continuity of the play was lost from time to time through either weak voices or the inevitable loss of memory, the play provided many laughs for the spectators.

For the most part it was a new version of the well-known story book tale. Each time the scene changed, the locale was explained by Larry Brown, who as the exacting property man, gave a very able performance. Barbara Jones as the young mother, and Diane Lee Throne as the child, also gave good performances in the pre-play scenes.

The authentic touch of real theater was given the play by the papier-mache chicken helmet, worn by little Norman Wolfe jr. The helmet, according to Harold McCuen, director of the theater, was the former property of the well-known American stage actress, Maude Adams.

Members of the cast included Bruce Campbell in the title role of Jack, Douglas Catanzariti as the giant; Mary Louise Jones, whose fine diction added to the role of Jack's mother; Hugh Maxwell as the butcher, Linda Kay Hattman as the fairy; Molly Maxwell as the sneezing giant's wife, Wendy Wiler as the magic harp, Rosamond Fitch as money bags and Susie Wolfe and Molly Maxwell as the front and back, respectively of the cow, Buttercup.

Three playlets opened the season and were presented before the main production.

They included the "Snow White Cow," directed by Patricia Edmonstone, and a cast of Paul Tyson, Wendy Wiler, Karen Beal, Gunther Meisse. John Beal and Polly Martin; "King Thursbeard" directed by Lynne Hartley, and a cast of Norman Wolfe, Richard Farrel, Rosamond Fitch, Patricia Taylor and Sally Gresmer, Sidney and Sandra Simpson; and "The Legend of the Star," featuring Sally Cummins, Nancy Clarke, Peggy Weir and Kent Taylor.

Chorus drama will be introduced for the first time on the children's theater stage July 27 and 28, when the "Pied Piper," "Sleeping Beauty" and "Rumple Stiltskin" are presented.

Close Camp Lists Today

Today is the last day Richland county 4-H members may enroll for the 4-H camp to be held July 25 to the 30th. County Agent C. N. McGrew has sent a letter to club members today advising them of equipment they will need to bring to camp and what procedure they will follow in meeting for the trip.

Those who wish to enroll should contact McGrew at his office in the county courthouse today.

INDIAN STYLE—

The 177 Brownies who are attending a five - day session of Girl Scout camp at Camp Niniwan which opened yesterday are really carrying out the Indian theme being used at the camp this year. The eager - eyed youngsters, many of whom are attending camp for the first time this year, waited for their buses on Main street this morning dressed in conventional campers' attire except for their headdresses. On each little girl's head was a paper band in which were stuck an assortment of feathers. On the bands were printed the Indian names the girls had chosen, such as "Blue Eyes," "Rosebud," "Chief Red," "White Feather," and, of course, "Pocahontas."

Girls Plan Splash Party

Members of Baku chapter, Order of DeMolay, have been invited to be the guests of the Order of Rainbow for Girls at their annual "splash party" at Liberty park pool next Wednesday.

The invitation to the party was read at a meeting of Baku chapter attended by 45 members, three advisers, and a visitor at Grotto hall last night.

Carl E. Pfeifer, master councilor, announced all Master Masons are invited to attend Baku chapter's initiation ceremonies July 28 and Aug. 11.

Rainbow girls were the guests of DeMolary members at a dance following the meeting.

Youth Tosses Firecracker In Wrong Spot

Underneath a police cruiser is a bad place to explode a firecracker, a 17-year-old Mansfield, R. D. 3, youth found out today.

Patrolman Earl Korn said he stopped the police cruiser on Grace street, at 10 p. m. yesterday to warn a youth about riding a bicycle without a light.

Another car pulled up and the youth tossed a firecracker out of the window and under the cruiser.

He was fined $5 and costs today in juvenile court.
